BAUER CABINET RESIGNS; REDS TAKE VILLAGES IN RUHR AREA

Mueller Requested to Form New Government; Workers Intrenched Along the Lippe at Wesel Threaten to Destroy Factories and Mines if Troops Prevail.

WESEL FORTRESS STILL HOLDING OUT

Severe Fighting Between Government and Communist Troops in Direction of Cologne and Dusseldorf Is Reported.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 26.—The German cabinet, headed by Premier Gustav Bauer, has resigned, according to a message received here from Berlin today.

Dr. Herman Mueller, the Foreign Minister in the Bauer Cabinet, has been requested to form a new Cabinet, it was unofficially reported today.

Labor Demands Delay Plans for the New Cabinet.

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, March 26.—Owing to the demands of the German trades unions for an investigation of the attitude toward the Kapp Government of Dr. Schiffer, the vice Premier and Herr Gessler, slated for the Ministry of Defense, a list of members of the proposed new cabinet made public yesterday has been withdrawn, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Berlingske Tidende. The formation of a cabinet and the meeting of the National Assembly, the message adds, have been postponed.

Berlin, Thursday, March 25.—The Freiheit this evening asserts that the real power lies, as before, in the hands of the military element, and that the Government Gen. Von Seecht is just as much in favor of monarchism and as warm for revenge as Gen. Von Luettwitz, who headed the military forces of the Kapp dictatorship.

The newspaper, which is the organ of the independents, taunts the Government with inability to enforce respect for its own decrees. It declares the Government is doing nothing to remedy a state of affairs which is so critical that a purely labor Government alone will be able to save the situation, failing which the independents are determined to refuse their help in pulling the country out of its difficulties.

Besieged Fortress of Wesel Still Holding Out.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, March 26.—Wesel, the besieged fortress northwest of the Ruhr coal basin, was still holding out today against the revolutionary workingmen, according to the Freiheit. The situation in the Ruhr industrial region gradually is clearing, the newspaper says.

Engagements Between Reds and Radicals at Several Points.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 26.—Workers' forces entrenched along the Lippe River, south and southeast of the city of Wesel, threaten, if they fail to capture Wesel, to destroy all factories and mines in Western Germany, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co., filed in Berlin this morning. The Reds have established great headquarters similar to that of the old German army and are issuing official statements.

In last night's communique the Reds claimed to have captured several villages and to have taken more than 200 prisoners during the day.

Telegrams from Muenster, filed last night, report severe engagements between Government and Communist troops on the line from Hamm south to Hagen. Further south in the direction of Cologne and Duesseldorf there has been fighting and serious conflicts have occurred at Wesel, Rucklinghaus and Muenster, as well as along the Lippe River.

Troops Drive Reds Across the Lippe River.

BUDERICH, Rhenish Prussia, March 26. — Ebert Government troops still held Wesel, across the Rhine, north of this city, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Fighting which had been in progress during the day was seemingly dying away at that hour, and although Wesel is under fire from artillery in the hands of the workers' army, the troops had suc-

4-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLED BY AUTO IN FRONT OF HOME

Negress, After Finding Body, Says Only Vehicle in Sight Was Truck—Fatality at 1303 South Seventh Street.

Edgar Timmerman, 4 years old, son of Oscar Timmerman, who conducts a confectionery and resides at 1303 South Seventh street, was killed by an automobile in front of his home at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon.

There were no eyewitnesses of the accident. Julia Rogers, a negress, living at 1229 South Seventh street, who saw the boy's body lying in the street after he had been knocked down, told the police that the only vehicle in sight at the time was a steel gray motor truck, with trailer attached, which was northbound on Seventh street, about 50 feet from where the body lay.

The body was carried into the confectionery where it was examined by a physician who pronounced life extinct. Later it was taken to the morgue via the central dispensary. The boy's neck was broken.

The police were furnished with a license number believed to be that on the motor truck seen by the negress, and began an investigation in an effort to learn the identity of the driver.

Mrs. Timmerman told the police that she was washing windows in the back part of her home when the accident occurred. She did not know whether the child was crossing the street or was playing when knocked down.

The accident made the twenty-first automobile fatality since Jan. 1, as compared with 18 deaths from automobile accidents in the same period last year.

By the Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 26.—Paul Little, 12-year-old son of E. R. Little, Lexington capitalist, who has been held for ransom by kidnapers, was found this morning locked in a room at a local hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Little first learned the whereabouts of their son when he telephoned his home from the hotel room. He said he had been kept a prisoner there since Wednesday night.

Investigation disclosed that the room had been reserved in advance by a man registered as J. C. Cox of Cincinnati. The frantic parents, overjoyed at news of the boy's safety, hurried to the hotel and took him home.

Weak from his harrowing experience, though physically unhurt, the boy was put to bed soon after being taken home.

Tells of Confinement.

During his two days' confinement, he said, he had been given only two bananas, a cake and an apple to eat, and was constantly terrified by grewsome stories related by his captor, who many times shoved a pistol in his face.

He said he spent the first night sitting on the edge of the bathtub, afraid to sleep.

His captor was the only person he saw at any time, although the man, he said, called another person, whom he addressed as "Jack," on the telephone, and said to him, "Well, he is here."

The boy disappeared from in front of the Lexington postoffice Wednesday afternoon where he had been seen in conversation with a man. Playmates said the little boy had told them he was to be given a dollar to deliver a box of candy. Soon afterward the father received a note stating that his son Paul was being held for ransom.

Little would not state positively, but intimated that the amount asked for was $25,000. He declared he would abide by the kidnaper's demands, that he did not mind paying the money and only wanted the safe return of his son.

At the appointed hour, 7:30 o'clock last night, Little deposited a package containing the ransom money in a main street garbage can. When he returned a half hour later the package was intact. Believing the kidnaper failed to show up for fear of being "double crossed," Little pocketed the money and went home, intending today to seek other means of obtaining the son.

At 7 o'clock this morning the key for the room in which the son was found was turned in at the hotel desk. At 7:15 Mrs. Little, called to the telephone, was overjoyed to hear the voice of her missing son. Nothing has been seen of the "Mr. Cox" since he left the hotel at 7 o'clock.

DIRECTOR OF SINN FEIN BANK INQUIRY IS ASSASSINATED

Magistrate Bell Taken Out of Tram Car by Four Men and Shot to Death in Dublin.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 26.—Alan Bell, resident magistrate who presided over the inquiry into the dealings of the Sinn Fein with Irish banks, was shot dead this morning outside the Asonic Club in Dublin, according to a dispatch from that city to the Central News.

In the House of Commons, Bonar Law, the Government leader, announced that Magistrate Bell was taken out of a tram car by four armed men and shot to death.

Magistrate Bell was on the way from his residence in Monkston to Dublin Castle when the tramcar in which he was riding was held up at Ball's bridge by four masked men who pulled the Magistrate from the car and killed him at the roadside. The body was taken to a hospital, where it was found the murdered man had been shot through the head.

Aside from his investigation of the Irish banks under the crimes act, Magistrate Bell investigated the recent attempt on the life of the Lord Lieutenant, Viscount French, and other matters.

Early in March the authorities summoned the bankers as witnesses before Magistrate Bell, ordering them to produce such documents as might relate to dealings between their banks and the Sinn Fein organizations, and also with the Dalle Eireann, or Irish Republican Parliament. The inquiry, which was strictly private, opened at Dublin on March 3. The bankers refused to reveal their accounts, and the investigation was dropped.

The shooting occurred only a few yards from the car at 10 o'clock in the morning. The assailants of the Magistrate escaped.

CHAMBERS BATHED AT MIDNIGHT TO ATONE FOR OTHERS

Sons Testify in Will Suit How Their Father Worried Over Sins of Other Boarders Where He Lived.

MOVED TWICE ON ACCOUNT OF THIS

Believe He Was Mentally Alert at Time Will Was Made, Having Contracted With Him Shortly Before.

How James H. Chambers, 83 years old, used to get up at midnight in a boarding house and take a bath, in order to wash away the sins committed by other boarders, was related in the hearing of the suit of his son, John Ralph Chambers of Los Angeles, to break his will, in Judge Ferriss' court.

Testimony in the case ended this morning, and arguments began this afternoon.

Chambers, who was president of the Dios Chemical Co., left an estate of $250,000, divided among his widow, three sons and one daughter. The share left to John R. Chambers was in trust, with the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. as trustee. The other shares were without restriction. John R. Chambers is trying to have the restriction of the trusteeship removed, on the ground that his father was not of sound mind at the time when the will was made, in September, 1916. Chambers died in November, 1917.

The two sons who received their shares outright, and who are defendants in the present suit, testified yesterday afternoon and this morning. They are Arthur D. Chambers, now president of the chemical company, and Leslie T. Chambers. They said they regarded their father as being of sound mind at the time when the will was made, but that in the summer of 1917 they noticed that he was failing mentally.

Changed Boarding Houses.

Leslie Chambers said his father complained of having to change his boarding house twice within a month, in that summer, because he believed the other boarders were sinful. In his endeavor to atone for their sins, he related, Chambers would get up at midnight and bathe.

The brothers testified that, 15 days before. They discovered that he had delusions they entered into contracts with their father, binding them to work for the chemical company for 10 years, on stipulated salaries and commissions. They cited this as proof that they considered his mentality good at that time.

Arthur Chambers said his father had great will power, and could not be easily influenced, and that he was mentally alert, until the summer of 1917. He said the father had never used liquor, and that he was of jovial disposition, and always ended his letters with a joke.

He said his father was first a member of St. John's Methodist Church, then of Cabanne Methodist, then of the Second Presbyterian, in which he retained his membership up to his death, though he frequently went to a small Free Methodist Church. He said he considered his father a devout Christian, and a believer in the work of the churches.

He said the net profit of the chemical company was $17,000 in 1918, more than $25,000 in 1919, and that this year the profits were running 50 per cent over the same period last year.

It developed in the testimony of the brothers that the plaintiff is their older half-brother, being Chambers' only child by his first marriage, while the others are children of the second Mrs. Chambers.

Further evidence as to the father's belief in faith healing appeared in a letter, written by him to John R. Chambers, in which he wrote that his hearing had been restored through faith. In this connection, he quoted from the Bible, "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." He said he could hear, even with his ears stuffed with cotton. A witness has testified, as to this, that he found it as hard as ever to make Chambers hear, after his supposed "cure."

Letters Are Introduced.

Correspondence introduced by the defense, and the plaintiff's deposition, showed that the plaintiff, John R. Chambers, served two and three-fourths years of a seven-year sentence in San Quentin prison, California, for a statutory offense, and that he was released on parole through the father's efforts. The defense contends that this fact sufficiently explains the father's desire to have John R. Chambers' share of the estate safeguarded by a trusteeship.

John R. Chambers said in his deposition that his wife divorced him in 1912, the year before he was sent to prison. In a letter, addressing

CARPENTIER BROUGHT 100 SILK SHIRTS, 20 OVERCOATS, 75 SUITS

35 Trunks Also Carried 75 Pairs of Shoes—And He's Shopping in Fifth Avenue.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Callers on M. and Mme. Georges Carpentier became convinced today that the French champion is a prize fighter de luxe. Their flower-filled, sumptuously furnished six rooms constitute the best suite in one of the city's newest and best hotels. From France they brought a valet, a maid, a secretary, a manager and a trainer and 35 trunks.

In addition to natural Apollo-like gifts Carpentier, according to the Evening World, is enabled to be a Beau Brummel by the following wardrobe:

Twenty overcoats, three fur coats and one fur robe.

Seventy-five suits.

Seventy-five pairs of shoes.

Two hundred neckties.

The wardrobe has been found to be insufficient for American purposes and Carpentier is rapidly increasing it by visits to Fifth avenue shops.

TENANTS ORDERED OUT TO MAKE ROOM FOR RAILROAD OFFICES

Occupants of Seventh Floor of Fullerton Building Told M. & O. Will Take Over Quarters.

Tenants on the seventh floor of the Fullerton Building, Seventh and Pine streets, have been notified to vacate their quarters to make room for the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, which now occupies the eighth and ninth floors of the building and which will shortly extend its offices to the seventh floor. The tenants are required to get out by April 30.

Many of the tenants regard the notice to vacate as a hardship because of the prevailing scarcity of office room in downtown buildings. A few of the tenants affected have leases extending beyond April 30, and quarters elsewhere in the building will be found for them, in some instances by forcing other tenants without leases to get out.

TINGLING TOES AND FINGERS SIGN OF 'NEURONOTOS,' ALIENIST SAYS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 26.—If your fingers and toes tingle—with excitement or otherwise—consult a doctor.

This is the advice of Dr. Foster Kennedy, alienist, who declared in an address before the one hundred and fourteenth convention of the Medical Society of the State of New York last night that tingling extremities are the first symptoms of a new disease known as "neuronotos."

The tingling, he said, is followed by a weakness in the upper parts of the arms and legs which becomes worse until the patient cannot lift hands or feet.

Few cases of the disease have been seen in the United States, Dr. Kennedy said, explaining that it appears to result from severe shock to the nervous system. A number of cases have been observed among the soldiers of France, he said.

BROOKLYN DOCTOR AND HIS 'PATIENT' ARE FOUND SLAIN

Third Man, Who Called Physician and Led Him to Rooming House, Sought for Crime.

VICTIM'S LARGE SUM OF MONEY UNTOUCHED

Police Believe "Patient" Was Slain, Then Doctor Called and Killed When He Threatened Exposure.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Detectives conducted a widespread search for a "third man" today in the belief that his capture would clear up the mystery in the double murder of Dr. Vincent J. Campisi, a wealthy young Brooklyn physician, and an unidentified "patient," whose bodies were found in a disordered lodging house room in Brooklyn last night.

Dr. Campisi was summoned to visit the patient last night by a middle-aged man who accompanied him to the scene of the murder. An hour later Dr. Campisi's body, terribly slashed, was found on the floor of the "patient's" room and the latter was dead in his bed with the imprint of human fingers on his throat. The "third man" had disappeared.

An early police theory that Dr. Campisi had been lured to the lodging house for the purpose of robbery and that he had slain one of his assailants before he himself succumbed, appeared to be broken down by the fact that a large sum of money and other valuables were found in the doctor's pockets.

Another theory advanced was that the "patient" had been assaulted earlier by the missing man, and that Dr. Campisi was murdered by the same man after the doctor, summoned to give medical aid, had pronounced the "patient" dead and had threatened to notify the police.

Frank Ambrose, a roomer in the house, told the police he saw Dr. Campisi enter the house with another man who seemed to be greatly agitated. Shortly after the physician arrived, Ambrose said, he heard the noise of breaking glass. A few minutes later the man who accompanied the physician ran from the place. Ambrose called a policeman and investigations revealed the bodies.

Mrs. Dorothy Parker, who conducts the rooming house, said the strangled man rented a room about a week ago without giving his name and she had not seen him in that time. Nor had she seen, she said, the other man described to her as the one who brought the physician.

Dr. Campisi was 35 years old and married. His brother, Samuel Campisi, said his brother had no enemies to his knowledge.

WOOD AND LOWDEN EXPENSES SUBJECT OF ROW IN SENATE

Borah Starts Controversy by Declaring Lavish Outlays Are Outrage and Insult to People.

DECLARES THE FACTS MUST BE PUBLISHED

Asserts That for Every Vote Cast for the Two Candidates in South Dakota $10 Was Spent.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Charging that "war profiteers" had combined to control the Republican and Democratic National conventions, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, told the Senate today that the pre-convention expenditures of some presidential candidates presented a "shameless situation" promising a "saturnalia of corruption" unless Congress called a halt.

Senator Borah's charges, which were made in presenting his bill for limitation of pre-convention expenditures, started a political debate in which Senators on both sides of the chamber joined.

Reading a published story that "testimonials" indorsing Major-General Leonard Wood were being purchased in Indiana at the rate of $2.50 apiece, Senator Borah said he had been advised that "plenty of affidavits to the same effect were on file in a neighboring State." If these men who have supposed that you can purchase the nomination are beginning by paying $2.50 for "testimonials," Senator Borah asked, "what will they pay for votes?"

Managers Declared Shameless.

"Gen. Wood's managers state that the managers for Gov. Lowden are spending more money they they are. That is their defense. I am inclined to think that that is true. There are some evidences of it.

"Here is the shameless situation. Certain candidates are charged with having made enormous expenditures and they apparently have turned themselves over to a coterie of men of vast wealth and are permitting those men to conduct their campaign. To the man in the street it has every appearance of an attempt to deliberately control with money the national convention.

"If these gentlemen will frankly tell us where the money is coming from, I would be willing to accept their explanation. But when they remain silent, there is only one inference, to be drawn and that is that the charges are true."

Agrees to Furnish Names.

Senators Thomas of Colorado and Ashurst of Arizona, Democrats, asked Senator Borah to give the names of Democrats who were spending large sums of money and the speaker said he would do so at the proper time.

"If I knew any Democrat who was spending money excessively," said Senator Ashurst, "I should feel it my duty to see that he didn't get some delegates he might otherwise get. And if I thought any Democrat was trying to get a third term, I would not hesitate to tell the people that that was wrong."

"If the Senator doesn't know that a Democrat is seeking a third term," rejoined Senator Borah, "then he is blessed with an innocence of which I would not suspect him. I think the President is entitled to a third term for who else would lead the fight for the treaty?"

"Doesn't the Senator mean a third nomination?" asked Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, who is manager of Gen. Wood's Washington bureau.

"Well, if the candidate of the Senator of New Hampshire keeps up his practices and is nominated, it will be a third term," Senator Borah replied.

Quotes Newspaper Report.

"Senator Borah quoted a newspaper report that the Democratic National Committee was raising a $10,000,000 campaign fund, and added that there were evidences of a like situation in the Republican organization.

"But Chairman Cummings of the Democratic National Committee has denied that story," interjected Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi.

Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, suggested that in view of the probable delay in securing legislation to limit pre-convention expenditures, a resolution of investigation would be better. Senator Borah replied that he would favor such a resolution also, and added that if "those who have been charged with these expenditures do not report to the public voluntarily, the judgment which will be passed against them will be quite as

TEACHER, 53, WED TO FORMER PUPIL, 23

Disappears for Two Years in Effort to Elude Him, but Soldier Finds Her.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 26.—Mrs. Russell L. Richman, formerly Mrs. Mary Heffernan, 53 years old, Brooklyn school teacher, who dropped from sight two years ago, has started housekeeping with her former pupil husband, Russell L. Richman, 23, in Parkwood, here. To a reporter she discussed her romance as follows:

"I care for him very much indeed, but I believed his professed attachment for me might only be a passing fancy, so I resolved to lose myself to the world completely, leaving no clew by which he might carry out his oft-repeated intention of following me wherever I should go and inducing me to marry him.

"He found me at last upon his return from France, accomplishing what all the police and detectives could not do. And caring as much for each other as we did, there was really nothing else for us to do, so we were married."

Mrs. Heffernan and young Richman, an overseas veteran, were married in Warren, O., March 1, by the Rev. T. F. Rheinhild, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, after a strange romance. Two years, seas, during which he fought in the Argonne drive, did not dampen the ardor of the Brooklyn wouth's love for his teacher, more than twice his own age.

"I made every possible effort to evade the boy," the teacher said. "I told none of my friends or my relatives where I was going, or even that I intended to go. I just disappeared."

When Richman returned from France he at once took up the search. One day he saw a piano box about to be loaded on a truck. It bore the name of the missing teacher. The address given was Massilon, O. Richman found Mrs. Heffernan in that city, and though she refused at first to see him, he was so persistent that she eventually agreed to meet him. The meeting took place in Cleveland, and again Mrs. Heffernan tried to discourage Richman. He declared, however, that he would never give her up.

BRITISH OUTSHOT IN JUTLAND FIGHT, U. S. ADMIRAL SAYS

"German Gunnery Turned Them on Their Heads," Plunkett Tells Naval Investigating Committee.

U. S. NAVY ENTERED WAR SHORT OF MEN

"If We Had Faced Germany at Outbreak of War We Would Be Paying Indemnity Now," He Asserts.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Germans, by their superior gunnery, "turned the British on their heads," at the battle of Jutland, Rear Admiral Plunkett declared today before the Senate committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war.

Admiral Plunkett was testifying as to the need for keeping the navy personnel at full strength so men might be adequately trained. He did not go into details as to the Jutland battle and was asked no questions regarding it by the committee.

The Admiral, who commanded the great naval battery of 14-inch guns on the western front, was the fourth witness in the investigation of Rear Admiral Sims' charges that the Navy Department failed to co-operate fully with the allies early in the war and all of his testimony was devoted to the matter of personnel.

Navy Lacked Men.

He told the committee that the navy was without sufficient men when the war began.

"If we had been up against Germany at the outbreak of the war," he said, "we would have been paying indemnity today, and all because we did not have the trained men.

"We didn't have the men because Mr. Daniels wouldn't let us have them and wouldn't let us do anything to get them."

Rear Admiral Plunkett testified that prior to the United States' entry into the war he told Secretary Daniels that "there can be no gunnery without people, and there are no people."

"I argued with Mr. Daniels for two years without making an impression on him," declared the witness.

Admiral Plunkett said Admiral W. S. Benson, Chief of Naval Operations during the war, had told him to take up directly with the Secretary matters relating to personnel.

Exhausted His Talk.

"Admiral Benson said he had exhausted all the talk in his system," asserted the officer, "and told me if I thought I could do anything to go ahead and try."

Charges that the Navy Department took steps to prevent reports reaching the public regarding a shortage of personnel in the navy before the United States entered the war, were made by Capt. Joseph K. Taussig of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., a member of a well-known St. Louis family.

Capt. Taussig, who was on duty at the Navy Department prior to the war and later served on destroyers overseas, said that Secretary Daniels in his annual report in 1916, stated that the numerical strength of the navy was adequate and in 1915 said that only an additional 10,000 men were needed, while the Navy General Board in its 1914 report had stated that 19,600 men were necessary.

"The General Board, the Commander in Chief of the Atlantic fleet and many officers of high rank brought deplorable and unsatisfactory conditions of the personnel" to the department's attention with "emphatic and repeated" recommendations that immediate steps be taken to remedy the situation, Capt. Taussig testified.

LUDENDORFF IS TERMED 'MASTER MIND' BEHIND KAPP

Frankfort Zeitung and Other Papers Tell of 'Wet Spread Over Empire' and Plot to Seize Government.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, March 26.—The part played by Gen. Ludendorff in the events leading up to Dr. Kapp's coup are not yet clear, but it is said in some circles that he was the master mind of the plot. It is recalled that the day after Kapp's entry into Berlin the Anti-Socialistic Strasburger Zeitung, under the caption, "Fall of the Jews' Government," openly named Ludendorff as the leading spirit of the revolt.

Doeberitz, the troop camp outside Berlin, has become the center of counter revolutionary activity under the slogan "Fight Bolshevism," according to the Vorwaerts. The movement is gaining adherents daily among the students, the newspaper says. The apparent immunity from prosecution of Gen. Ludendorff on the ground, as the Semi-Official News Agency alleges, that "He was not immediately implicated in the Kapp usurpation," is causing much adverse comment.

The Frankfort Zeitung speaks of "the finely woven net spread over the whole empire by Ludendorff," who, it says, had planned a later date for the outbreak, but did not hesitate to take the helm when events precipitated themselves.

This paper adds: "Kapp is too much of a civilian in ideas and methods for Ludendorff, who has again shown himself to be a man of ruthlessness and frightfulness, and it is only due to technical incapacity that the disaster did not assume greater proportions and that general massacre was avoided."

Outline of the Plan.

The Zeitung Am Mittag says the plot originated in the spring of last year, but was twice postponed. The leading spirits from the start were Col. Bauer, Ludendorff's intimate, and Capt. Pabst. They were afterwards joined by Dr. Kapp and Major-General von Luettwitz.

The plan, according to the paper, was to provoke a military revolt last June, when the Versailles treaty was before the National Assembly at Weimar. Signature was to be refused by the new Government, and Von Luettwitz was supposed to have the support of a majority of the officers' corps. To avoid the appearance of a monarchistic plot, it was intended to offer Gustav Noske the dictatorship, but Noske, who foresaw failure, persuaded Von Luettwitz to desist.

Von Luettwitz assented, but bided his time, and the malcontents organized a system of intelligence for periodically testing the spirit of the troops and utilized the enforced reduction of the army to weed out the uncertain elements, retaining only those considered safe.

Last August Von Luettwitz believed the time had come, but his own friends dissuaded him, as the undertaking was held to be too dangerous. The present coup, the third attempt, was prepared with the utmost secrecy. Von Luettwitz suddenly sprung upon President Ebert his demand for a strengthening of the army and preparations for a war of revenge.

Ebert Treated It Lightly.

Ebert attempted to treat the affair in an offhand manner, but Noske, who was Minister of Defense, brought matters to a head by summarily dismissing Von Luettwitz.

When ultimately it became clear that Dr. Kapp had not obtained the following he had hoped for, it was Ludendorff again, says the Zeitung Am Mittag, who scouted surrender and endeavored to sustain Kapp's drooping spirits.

"It is plain," says the paper, "that Ludendorff himself underestimated the forces arrayed against him, as he did in the war."

ceeded in repelling all infantry attacks.

Today's battle opened during the forenoon, when Government troops attacked workers' forces which had advanced to within a few hundred yards of the Wesel bridgehead. Moving rapidly to the onslaught, the regulars drove the Reds south across the Lippe River and southeast out of Lippe Schloss. In the meantime, Government artillery opened fire upon the workers' headquarters at Lipperdorf and partially destroyed them. Working southward from Lippe Schloss and eastward from Lipperdorf, the regulars began a double-flank attack which swept the Reds back, they being forced to retreat under heavy artillery and machine gun fire. An armored train passed along toward the bridge across the Lippe River about three and one-half miles from Wesel, and kept up a steady fire on the workers.

Many shells fired by the workers' artillery flew wild during this struggle. One of them struck at the gate of Fort Bluecher, the Belgian bank of the Rhine, and then ricocheted, bursting harmlessly.

Communists Agree to Surrender, Then Fire on Troops.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AMSTERDAM, Thursday, March 25.—Fighting at Wesel began yesterday morning, when Government troops sent to secure arms the communists had agreed to surrender, were fired upon with machine guns, says a Muenster dispatch to the Telegraaf. On Wednesday night the commander of the troops in Wesel demanded that the Reds withdraw to a line about two miles south of the Lippe River, and surrender arms stored at Peddenburg. This was agreed to, it is said, but fighting developed when the communists were asked to turn over the arms.

When communists forces occupied Dulmen, a town 25 miles east of Wesel, Government troops holding the place retired without fighting, it is said. Government troops at Wesel have been reinforced, according to reports from the Dutch frontier.

Order Being Restored in Industrial Centers of Saxony.

By the Associated Press.

GOTHA, Saxe Coburg Gotha, Wednesday, March 24.—Order is slowly emerging out of the confusion and chaos of the last 10 days in the industrial centers of Saxony. The workmen are capitulating and calling off the strike and the military are taking over control of the cities.

The strikers who for several days held the upper hand in Gotha, laid down their arms today. The garrison of 50 men who were driven out of the city last week will return tomorrow.

Fighting has been going on here continuously since March 17. It is estimated that 30 persons were killed and several hundred wounded. Eighty workers were buried today.

The workers every where announce as their principal demands abolition of martial law and the re-creation of the civil guard composed of representatives of all classes to replace "Noske's reactionary army."

In the country districts there are still a few small bands of armed workmen who have not yet been rounded up by the troops.

Considerable fighting has occurred at Naumburg, where the strikers entrenched themselves in the fortress, from which they were dislodged only after the garrison had been reinforced by troops from Weimar. Historical old Weimar itself did not escape the disorders. Several workmen were killed, but there was little property damage. All is quiet there now.

WASHINGTON, March 26.

NAPOLEON'S statement that every French soldier carried in his knapsack the baton of a Marshal has been partially exemplified in the German army by Sergeant-Major Weber, leader of the Spartacist forces in the Ruhr Valley.

During the war Weber, according to reports received here, was a non-commissioned officer attached to Gen. Ludendorff's staff at German general headquarters. When not engaged in running errands, Weber, the reports state, listened to the discussing of military strategy by the headquarters officers.

On one occasion Weber is said in these reports to have overheard Gen. Ludendorff quote Napoleon's famous dictum, and today the former non-commissioned officer carries the "baton" of the German Red army.

12 YEARS FOR FIRST OF 2 MEN TRIED FOR SHOOTING O'BRIEN

Henry Carr Admits Firing on Chief After Attempt to Hold Up Jewelry Store Oct. 31 Last.

Henry Carr, 26 years old, of 1423A Bremen avenue, was sentenced to 12 years in the penitentiary today by Circuit Judge Taylor on his plea of guilty of having shot at Police Chief O'Brien Oct. 31, last, following an attempt on the part of Carr and two others to rob the jewelry store of H. H. Gerhardt, 3324 Olive street. He was given six years on the assault charge and six years on the charge of attempted robbery.

Judge Taylor was going to fix the punishment at 15 years' imprisonment, seven and a half years for each offense, but on Carr's plea for leniency reduced the sentence.

Joseph Henry, who was implicated with Carr in the shooting of the Chief, was tried by a jury last week on a charge of robbery growing out of the holdup Oct. 24 at the Voss jewelry store, 4106 West Florissant avenue, when jewelry and watches valued at $1900 were stolen, and was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary. He is yet to be tried for shooting at Chief O'Brien and participating in the Gerhardt holdup.

Carr told Judge Taylor that the Gerhardt holdup was planned by Henry and Armand Ellebrecht a week before the attempted robbery. He said that Henry pointed a revolver at Gerhardt's clerk and that he started to rob the place when Gerhardt appeared at a back door and began firing at them.

William Manley, who was implicated with Henry in the Voss robbery, pleaded guilty of first degree robbery today and was sentenced by Judge Taylor to three years in the penitentiary.

effective as a legal penalty would be."

Referring to the Newberry trial in Michigan, Senator Borah said it was a sorry commentary on political virtue when, in recent years, one Senator had been expelled, another tried for corruption, and that now "we have suffered the humiliation of a third jury trial."

Senator Chamberlain, Democrat, Oregon, interrupted Senator Borah's reading of a list of names alleged contributors to Gen. Wood's campaign fund to ask if some of them were not giving money for political activities in both parties.

Declared National Peril.

"They usually do," Senator Borah said. "Edward L. Doheny, head of great oil interests in Mexico, is named here as a contributor to Gen. Wood's funds on the Republican side and he himself is a candidate for election to the Democratic convention as delegate at large from California. These gentlemen usually look to the protection of their interests. Mexico is likely to bulk large in the next campaign.

"I believe this is a national peril; I intend to get the facts out even if I have to do it in a brutal or crude way. Candidates who accept favors like these are called upon to return them after they get elected.

"Now I have a lot of telegrams from South Dakota concerning the primary there this week which I'm not going to read. They indicate that for every vote cast in that primary for Wood or Lowden $10 was spent. It cost that much.

"How are Republicans going to defend this kind of thing after the nomination has been made? Now is the time to clean the Augean stables."

Senator Sterling, Republican, South Dakota, interrupted.

"I cannot let the inference go out that the people of South Dakota have yielded to bribery," he said. "I'm not denying that money has been spent. Immense sums can be used for newspaper advertising and printers' ink. That there has been any purchase of votes I do not concede."

Effect of Expenditures.

"I haven't intended to say that," Senator Borah returned. "I do say the effect of this expenditure is to corrupt the electorate. If the money had not been spent the results there would have been different."

Turning to his reports from Indiana, the Idaho Senator said that "testimonial advertising indicates a descent to actual personal corruption" of voters.

Senator Borah declared that "a man who will accept money from great corporations for political purposes is not fit to be a precinct official, much less President of the United States."

Senator Moses replied that any money being spent in the Wood campaign was being spent "legitimately and necessarily," and said that if Senator Borah wished to end the expenditures he should remove the cause, which, he said, was the presidential primary system.

"The Wood campaign is immaculate with regard to expenditures," declared Senator Moses. "I know that if an investigation were held it would be found that the Wood expenditures have all been legal and nowhere as large as the huge sum mentioned in the New York World."

Senator Moses asserted that if Senator Borah "had his way a candidate would go out on his front porch and cry out, 'I am a candidate for President,' and the people would flock to him and hand him the nomination."

"Things can't be done that way nowadays," he said. "The character of my candidate gives refutation to the implications."

"The Senator from New Hampshire says he doesn't know anything about these things," replied Senator Borah. "Mr. Proctor, Mr. Hitchcock, Mr. King, Mr. Doheny and Gen. Wood know about them."

"Does the Senator mean to accuse Gen. Wood of being implicated in a conspiracy to corrupt the American electorate?" asked Senator Moses.

"I do not say the men who are managing the Wood campaign propose to control the Republican convention by the use of money," replied Senator Borah, "and I waive my senatorial privilege when I say that. Now let them go to the bat if they want to."

"Outrage and Insult."

Senator Borah declared it was a "complete outrage and an insult upon the American people that you've got to spend hundreds of millions of dollars to control an election."

Senator Moses said it was absolutely necessary to conduct a publicity campaign in order to wake the public from its lethargy, adding this was demonstrated during the war when large sums of money were spent for that purpose in connection with the sale of Liberty Bonds.

The Idaho Senator replied that what he wanted was publicity and added:

"Let us know who the men are."

"Do you know how much money was spent in South Dakota?" Senator Borah asked, turning to Senator Moses.

"I do not know," was the reply.

"Let somebody who knows then say," continued Senator Borah. "If you would do your country a service you will have Mr. Procter, Mr. Hitchcock or Mr. King say how much money was sent into South Dakota. If you would have company let Mr. Lowden also answer."

Senator Moses closed the discussion with the remark that he thought he was engaged in a "greater public duty in trying to elect Gen. Wood."

Owl Blown Into Guest's Room at Statler, Is Captured

AN owl with a wingspread of more than two feet, was blown through an open window into the room of a guest on the twelfth floor of Hotel Statler shortly after 10 o'clock last night, and, after routing the frightened guest from his room, flew up and down the corridor for more than 15 minutes before being captured by members of the hotel's night force.

The guest, before retiring, had lowered the upper window sash. He was awakened suddenly by a loud noise as of the flapping of wings. Turning on the light he saw the owl beating against the walls around the room. It had apparently been blown in by the high wind. The guest fled to the hall, arousing other guests. Night Clerk J. Mooney, a squad of bellboys, the night watchmen and other hotel attaches were called and chased the bird around the corridor, finally capturing it in a corner.

Peter F. Brush, building superintendent for the hotel, has the bird in a box in the engine room today. He said he would offer it to the city for the Forest Park bird cage.

72-Mile Wind Injured Man and Broke Many Windows

Gate Blown Upon Carpenter Fracturing a Leg —Garage Carried 75 Feet and Demolished.

A wind which reached a maximum velocity of 72 miles an hour at 5:29 p. m. yesterday, after blowing at a high rate all afternoon, injured one man and did considerable property damage in St. Louis, principally through the destruction of plate-glass store windows in the downtown retail district.

Ernest Gallenbarck, 58 years old, a carpenter, of 3234 South Eighteenth street, was repairing a gate for the Lemp Brewing Co., at 3430 Lemp avenue, when the gate was blown down and fell on him, at 4:20 p. m. His right leg was broken and his left leg, left arm and shoulder were cut. The wind at that time was blowing about 58 miles an hour.

Mrs. Rose Levy of 1252 North Leffingwell avenue, reported to the police that while trying to withstand the high wind at Sixth and Locust streets at 5:10 p. m. she fell and injured her left knee. She said her hat, valued at $5, was blown away and lost, and 1975 cigar store coupons, also valued at $5, were blown from her hand.

Shortly after noon the wind began to rise, and while it shifted at times, its general direction was from the west.

Velocity Increases.

The velocity at 1 p. m. was approximately 40 miles an hour. It rose and fell intermittently, but increased in velocity between 4 p. m. and 5:30, when it reached its crest.

At 5:45 p. m. a galvanized iron garage of the De Baliviere Tire and Auto Supply Co., at 277 De Baliviere avenue, was lifted bodily, carried across a 50foot lot and to the tracks of the University car line, a distance of 75 feet. It was demolished when it "landed."

A plate glass window valued at $200 was broken at Effie Scotty's candy store, 5195 Delmar boulevard, causing damage estimated at $125 to bowls, plates, dishes, mirrors and stock in the show case.

A large plate glass window on the Olive street side of the Famous & Barr store, Seventh and Olive streets, was blown in. The company estimated the damage to the glass and hats in the window at $2000.

Three Windows Broken.

A window valued at $200 was broken at the Novelty Shop, 212 North Tenth street, and a $250 plate glass pane was broken in a vacant building at 1101 Olive street. A window valued at $250 was broken at the Killian Paint Co. store, 1705 Olive street, and a sign was blown from the same building.

Part of the cornice was blown from the Zion German Methodist Church, 4200 Gano avenue, and several tiles were blown from the steeple of St. Rose's Catholic Church at Goodfellow and Maple avenues.

Telephone poles were blown down on Manchester avenue west of Taylor avenue and fell across trolley wires, pulling them down and blocking traffic. Poles also were blown down in the 3900 block on Sophia avenue and in University City. Cornices were damaged at 1223 and 1216 Blair avenue.

REPORT ENGLAND WILL SHIP $20,000,000 IN GOLD TO U. S.

Story Says $12,500,000 Will Come From Bank of England's Stock.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 26.—It is reported in the bullion market that £4,000,000 in gold will be shipped to America at the end of the week, comprising £2,500,000 from the Bank of England's stock and the remainder from other sources.

Officials of the Bank of England refused information on the subject today. The shipping companies say that a certain amount of gold is going out, but refuse details as to the exact amount. It is known, however, that arrangements have been made with the Cunard and White Star Lines for carrying bullion on steamers leaving at the end of the week, and it is possible that the amount going is the first installment in preparation for repayment of the Anglo-French loan of £100,000,000.

STEVENS REHEARING REFUSED

The Supreme Court at Jefferson City today overruled a motion for a rehearing in the case of Beverly C. Stevens, former real estate dealer in Clayton, who was convicted in 1918, in the St. Louis Circuit Court for Criminal Causes, of embezzlement. The Supreme Court affirmed Stevens' conviction March 14.

Stevens served a three years' term on a sentence imposed in St. Charles County for a similar offense.

RUNAWAY STREET CAR WRECKS CEMENT APARTMENT HOUSE

Woman Killed in Zanesville (O.) Accident, and 8 Persons Are Hurt—Baby Is Rescued.

By the Associated Press.

ZANESVILLE, O., March 26.—When the brakes on a city street car failed to work on a hill today the car ran wild for five blocks, jumped the track at Ninth and Main streets and crashed into a building, causing its partial collapse. Mrs. Rollie Perry, 25 years old, a passenger in the car, was killed and her 18-months-old son probably fatally injured. Five other passengers and the conductor and motorman were injured, but not seriously.

The three-story cement Pioneer Apartment Building was wrecked. A grocery in the building was demolished and customers narrowly escaped death. The wall of the structure was torn out up to the third floor, and the crib in which slept the two-weeks' old infant son of Robert Morison, was left hanging perilously over the broken wall. The baby was rescued. Mrs. Perry was crushed when the building collapsed.

100 PERSONS ATTEND HEARING ON BUDGET

Speakers Urge Improvements at Koch Hospital, Good Streets and Advertising.

About 100 persons, half of them women, attended the public hearing on the municipal budget, held by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in the Mayor's office today, and urged the appropriation of sufficient funds to improve Koch Hospital, maintain the streets and sewers, add to the equipment of the Fire Department, advertise the city and extend the work of the municipal nurses and baby clinics.

The board, which is composed of Mayor Kiel, Comptroller Nolte and President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, voted to hold another public hearing April 9. The fiscal year begins April 1, but it will not be necessary to pass the budget until after that date.

Among those who spoke were Robert E. Lee, representing the Automobile Manufacturers' and Dealers' Association; the Rev. John W. Day, president of the Tuberculosis Society; Miss Carol Bates of the League of Women Voters; Alfred Noble, president of the Team and Truck Owners' Association; M. P. Linn, representing the Chamber of Commerce; M. E. Holderness of the Advertising Club, and Mmes. Lee O. Hocker and M. A. Goldstein.

Plea Made for Streets.

Lee and several other speakers requested that the budget include a sufficient sum to maintain the streets in good condition. They especially requested that the entire amount of the money obtained through the gasoline tax be used for the streets.

Mayor Kiel, who presided, pointed out that most of the improvements demanded could not be paid for out of the ordinary revenues of the city and urged those present to support the municipal bond issue, which will be voted upon May 11.

Dr. Jacob J. Singer of 5732 Westminster place and Mrs. Goldstein, who resides at 2853 Westminster place, visited Comptroller Nolte before the hearing and requested his support for an appropriation of $19,400 for necessary improvements and new equipment for the Robert Koch Hospital for contagious diseases. They appeared as citizens interested in the hospital.

Conditions Called "Frightful."

Dr. Singer and Mrs. Goldstein reminded the Comptroller of the recent report of the September grand jury in which the conditions at the hospital were described as "frightful." Nolte said that he favored the improvements and would endeavor to have the Board of Estimate and Apportionment pass favorably upon them even if it was necessary to sacrifice some of the recreational projects.

The improvements and equipment requested and the amounts required are as follows:

Roadways and improvement of grounds	$15,000
Sewers	2,500
Fluoroscope	1,200
Steam sterilizer	1,200
Building for occupational therapy	10,000
Four cottages for incipient cases of tuberculosis	20,000

Coal range	1,000
Dry room tumbler	1,000

WILSON LETTING THE SENATE 'STEW' OVER THE TREATY

"Ask People on Capitol Hill," White House Reply to Question, "What's the Next Move in Situation?"

WEEK SLIPS BY WITH NO STATEMENT

General Impression President Will Leave the "Mixup" With Those He Holds Responsible for It.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1920.)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—"What's the next move in the treaty situation?" is the question which a group of correspondents asked at the White House today.

"Ask the people on Capitol Hill," was the reply given by officials, presumably conversant with President Wilson's plans or intentions.

From this conversation, as well as from the fact that fully a week has gone by without a statement of any kind from the President, it is being generally inferred that Mr. Wilson considers the responsibility for the present mixup to rest squarely on the shoulders of the United States Senate, and that the latter should worry about how to extricate itself from the dilemma in which the foreign relations of the United States has been placed by the defeat of the peace treaty.

This is a favorite point of view in administration quarters—letting the other fellow "stew in his own juice," as the phrase is so often applied in politics.

But the treaty is not before the Senate. It has been returned to the White House. Mr. Wilson is in no hurry to return it to the Senate, preferring to see what Congress is going to do about a resolution declaring peace.

As to Peace Proclamation.

Many members of Congress seem to think the passage of a joint resolution proclaiming peace, coupled with a general declaration, would be sufficient substitute for the peace treaty itself but this view is opposed by Republicans and Democrats alike, who think the Senate will still be open to the charge of blocking peace if no treaty is ratified by the time of the next elections.

There is, moreover, a division of opinion on the declaration of policy, the so-called mild reservationists and others from states favoring the league of nations being anxious to have the resolution contain a declaration in favor of the principle of the league.

To this, however, men like Senators Borah and Johnson, who have conducted their whole fight against the league of nations principle and all, are opposed.

Debate over the joint resolution will unquestionably produce in the Senate so much quarreling and long drawn out discussion over the policy the United States should pursue that the two big political conventions at Chicago and San Francisco will probably be here before any action is taken.

League in Campaign.

The President wants the league taken into the campaign as a political issue. He is wise enough to know that if he injects his own personality into the fight and seeks a third term, his entire advocacy of the league of nations will be brought into serious doubt. People who have refused to believe Mr. Wilson was personally ambitious to retain the executive power would be reluctantly forced to believe that the league was merely a device or vehicle for a third term campaign. All the rules of logic, as Wilson followers express them, would seem to indicate that the President has not for a moment considered tieing up his own course with that of the league and treaty.

If the President intended to run for a third term, he would show disapproval of the active campaigns of Attorney-General Mitchell Palmer, Gov. Cox of Ohio and other intimate friends.

The effort made by Representative Humphreys of Mississippi, Democrat, to smoke out Mr. Wilson on the third term question is a direct consequence of the misunderstanding on Capitol Hill, or rather lack of information about the President's plans. Messrs. Kitchin and Clark, who congratulated Mr. Humphreys after his speech are not overfond of Mr. Wilson, and would like to see a declaration that would take him out of the political game altogether.

Keeping Opponents Guessing.

But Woodrow Wilson has played far too dominant a part in the Democratic party to slip out inconspicuously and meekly as his term of office approaches an end. The consensus of opinion is that he is holding back on the third term question simply to keep his own party together and his political opponents guessing, and that he will make a formal statement of his position at the proper time and the proper place—the Democratic national convention at San Francisco, with the delegates of the Democratic party duly assembled.

He has other things, too, to communicate to that convention—something, for instance, that the Democrats can call a "ringing" declaration of principle for their platform. Mr. Wilson will write the planks that "condemn" and "commend" Senators who voted against or for the treaty without reservations though it will take expert phraseology and diction to avoid entangling the 21 Democrats who voted with the Lodge Republicans and the 23 Democrats who voted with the Republican irreconcilables. But for the present the White House maintains silence watchfully waiting for the men on Capitol Hill to make the next move on the checkerboard of national politics.

HOOVER GIVES VIEW ON REGULATING BUSINESS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Proportions of a commodity handled by a corporation, rather than the concern's size of capital, should determine Government regulations, Herbert Hoover said in a letter to Representative Anderson of Minnesota, read today before the House Agriculture Committee in connection with hearings on legislation for the control of the meat-packing industry.

"I have long entertained the idea," said Hoover's letter, "that the real basis for regulation of big business revolves around the proportions of the commodity products involved in such a business rather than any question of capital employed or size of business. When businesses grow to an extent that they can control the handling of more than a certain percentage of a given commodity, they then become dangerous to the public interest, and if, upon growth beyond that point, they were placed under stiff regulation as to profits and other features of their business, the natural tendency of such businesses would be to hold themselves below the offical limit. Such a plan of licensing would leave free play of all comeptitors of moderate size."

"The experience of the Food Administration," the letter added, "showed the very great difficulty of licensing all members of a given trade, big and little, because the degree of regulation imposed of any character upon the big member of a trade may work great hardship upon the little ones, and under some conditions, may stimulate the growth of monopoly. For instance, we found in the packing trade that if we regulated the big packers down to a point of profit that would seem entirely reasonable, we would probably crush out many of the smaller packers, and get just the reverse social result that we had hoped to obtain."

"On the plan above suggested, the secondary concerns in a given industry would have entirely free action, and could themselves probably compete better by this very freedom. It is a thorny subject and I wish you well."

E. L. Burke of Omaha, representing the Market Committee of the American Livestock Association, urged the enactment of regulatory legislation for the packers.

$1500 VERDICT FOR MAN SUSPENDED BY UNION

Jury's Award Based on Charge of Oiler of Conspiracy to Keep Him Out of Work.

A verdict for $1500 was returned yesterday in favor of Andrew Cook by a jury in the Circuit Court against eight officers of local Brewery Oilers and Helpers Union, No. 279, including the president, William H. Behrens.

The other defendants are John Rossfeld, Fred Becker, Edward Fiedler, Louis Krudwig, Max Troschke, Max Schuber and Louis Strobel. They were charged by Cook with conspiring to suspend him as a member of the union and thereby prevent him from getting work in a union shop. He says that by threatening to call a strike they caused him to be discharged from the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, where he was employed at $18.50 a week. This was on Oct. 21, 1915.

Cook said that he was fined $10 by the union for alleged violation of a rule. The charge was that he tried to induce his boss to give him a vacation with full pay, he says. As he took the position that the charge against him was made contrary to the rules of the union he refused to pay the fine, and he was then suspended from membership.

The defendants denied that there was a conspiracy against the plaintiff, and they asserted that his trial in the union was legal. Judge Hartmann instructed the jury that if it found from the evidence that Cook was not tried in compliance with the rules of the union, he was entitled to a verdict. The suit was for $15,000 damages.

FEDERAL MANAGER SANDERS OF WATERWAYS TO QUIT APRIL 1

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—M. J. Sanders of New Orleans yesterday resigned as Federal manager of the Mississippi-Warrior Government Waterways Service, now under control of the War Department.

He told Secretary of War Baker that he desired to return to his private business, which he had neglected for three years, and asked that he be relieved on April 1. His resignation was accepted.

Gen. Frank T. Hines, in charge of the Waterways, designated Theodore Brent, traffic manager of the Mississippi Line, as acting successor to Sanders. The salary of the post is $15,000 a year.

Sanders said he had reason to believe that Brent would be appointed to the place.

HOUSING CAMPAIGN WILL BE EXTENDED UNTIL THURSDAY

Pledges and Cash up to Noon Today Total $197,935, With $500,000 Sought.

The campaign of the Y. W. C. A. and Letmar Club to raise $500,000 with which to erect two hotels for working girls, will be extended three days, continuing until next Thursday. This was decided today when it became apparent that the goal would not be reached by tomorrow night, the time originally set for closing the campaign.

Subscriptions and cash at the headquarters of the campaign committee at noon today amounted to $151,935.70. Added to this are sums of $24,000 from the Associated Retailers and about $12,000 from the Manufacturers' Association Committee, which have not yet been turned over to the treasurer, bringing the total of pledges and cash to date to $197,935.70. Amounts reported today were: Women's team, $6319.45; business women's team, $102.10; men's teams, $2075, and Mrs. Bixby's team, $4000.

GOV. MORROW SPEAKS HERE TWICE TODAY

Addresses C. of C. at Noon and Will Be Guest of Kentucky Society Tonight.

Gov. Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, who recently received national praise for his defense of the life of a negro murderer of a white child at a cost to a Lexington mob of six killed and 24 wounded, came to St. Louis today to deliver two speeches and to remain over tomorrow. He was accompanied by Mrs. Morrow.

Gov. Morrow spoke at noon before the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon in the Planters Hotel, and tonight will be the chief guest and speaker at the annual banquet of the Kentucky Society of St. Louis at the St. Louis Club.

His 15-minute address at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon was on "Debt and Its Payment." He defined the debt as one which had been contracted by Americans through their forefathers to make this the freest country in the world, and the obligation could be discharged only by preserving the Constitution and enforcing law and order in the United States.

Gov. Morrow said he had not desire to discuss politics. Kentucky, he said, would send an uninstructed delegation to the Republican national convention and that the delegation would represent the fact that there is no crystallization of sentiment on any candidate or candidates in the State.

Entertained at Breakfast.

Gov. and Mrs. Morrow were met at Union Station by Mr. and Mrs. Breckinridge Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Goodloe and escorted to Hotel Jefferson, where other members of a reception committee made up a breakfast party of 12.

It is planned that the Governor shall be a guest tomorrow at luncheon at the Log Cabin Club, while Mrs. Morrow will be guest of Mrs. Jones at a theater party.

Gov. Morrow is the third Republican Governor in more than 125 years of Kentucky history. His election last November was the result of his transformation of a normal Democratic majority of 20,000 to a majority for himself of 40,000. His family is distinguished in Kentucky political history, his father having been a candidate for Governor against Proctor Knott of congressional fame. His uncle, the late United States Senator Bradley, was accounted the best story-teller in Kentucky, a distinction which has descended to the nephew.

Noted Story Teller.

Gov. Morrow is a mountaineer, and his stories in the vernacular of the mountains of Eastern Kentucky have given him renown. He served a term as United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucy and established a record for convictions on moonshine charges. At the polls, despite this, he gained a majority of one mountain district sufficient to wipe out the Democratic majorities of all the districts carried by his opponent.

DELAWARE LEGISLATURE POSTPONES SUFFRAGE ACTION

Advocates of Ratification Gain Delay—Vote Probably Will Be Taken Tuesday.

By the Associated Press.

DOVER, Del., March 26.—Agreement to postpone voting in the Delaware Legislature on the womans' suffrage amendment until next week, was reached today by Republican leaders in charge of majorities in both Senate and House.

Plans for a Senate vote today were abandoned. Next Tuesday was the date tentatively fixed by the Republicans for a vote in the House.

The new program was decided upon at a caucus of the House Republicans and Joint Steering Committee after the leaders conferred with Gov. Townsend.

Delay was determined on in a hope of the suffragists to obtain further votes in the House, where the present alignment admittedly presages rejection of the ratification. Improvement, however, in the Senate situation was claimed by the suffragist leaders. Overnight gains, they asserted, insure Senate approval of the ratification resolution.

The suffragists also won a point when they blocked plans of the House opposition to bring up the ratification resolution today by changing the standing rules. At the House Republican caucus it was said the Republicans agreed to stand solidly against such a move.

The Senate Judiciary Committee today ordered the Senate ratification resolution reported on its merits, without recommendation.

12 STORES DISCHARGE 110 ALTERATION TAILORS

Action Follows Refusal of Men to Work Overtime on Old Wage Scale.

The 110 alteration tailors employed in the 12 retail clothing houses of St. Louis, including the department stores, were discharged last night following their refusal to work overtime. The men are affiliated with the Tailors' Union.

A dispute between the employers and employes arose two weeks ago when the men, who were getting $30 a week, demanded a contract, effective April 1, calling for $40 a week and a readjustment of the overtime schedule. They were paid on an 8-hour day basis, with regular time for the first hour overwork, and time and a half for all other overwork.

The Associated Retailers refused to entertain the wage demand, on the ground that it was unreasonable. The employes determined to stand on their original proposition, and at 5 p. m. Wednesday quit work, refusing to put in extra time when ordered to do so.

K. F. Niemoeller, secretary of the Associated Retailers, said the tailors ignored their contract, which requires them to work extra time when occasion demands. The association, he said, had offered to consider a proposal for a reasonable increase in wages, but it deemed the 33 1-3 per cent increase demanded by the men as exhorbitant.

Frank Petera, 4259 Botanical avenue, business agent of the Tailors' Union, said the men waited for the employers to make a counter proposition regarding wages and then decided to do no overtime.

At a meeting today at Druid's Hall, Ninth and Market streets, the discharged tailors selected a committee to ask the retailers to submit a wage proposition for consideration.

MAINE REPUBLICANS NAME 12 UNINSTRUCTED DELEGATES

By the Associated Press.

BANGOR, Me., March 26.—Four delegates-at-large and eight district delegates were elected to the Republican National Convention without opposition at the State convention of the party here yesterday. All are uninstructed. Six presidential electors also were nominated.

Resolutions were adopted approving the refusal of the United States Senate to ratify the peace treaty without reservations, opposing Government ownership and operation of railways but favoring legislation that will provide the United States with an adequate merchant marine, and urging the establishment of a Federal budget. Construction and maintenance of national highways by the Federal Government was favored and the policy of maintaining a small standing army with a trained citizen reserve was indorsed.

CHICAGO, March 26.—Chairman L. L. Emerson of the Lowden Campaign Committee stated today that of Maine's 12 delegates to the Republican National Convention, all of whom are uninstructed, Lowden will have four.

BEAUTIFUL LADIES ARE RESCUED

By the Associated Press.

ABERDEEN, Wash., March 26.—"Sea stuff" films are being made frequently by California moving picture companies at the wreck of the schooner Janet Carruthers, which piled up on a Grays Harbor beach about a year ago.

Beautiful ladies are being "rescued" every week from the wreck's cabin, curley-haired heroes risk their lives, often jumping into waist-deep breakers, and "captains" are sticking with the old Carruthers to the last bitter "fade-out."

Wood's Mind Unimpaired After Removal of Tumor From Brain, Doctors Say

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Two distinguished physicians, in the most remarkable document yet put out in behalf of any presidential candidate, testified yesterday to the mental soundness of Major-General Leonard Wood, while admitting that a cyst the size of a mandarin orange, the result of an injury to the head, had been removed from the foot center of the right hemisphere of his brain, and "had bothered him no more than if he had a broken leg."

Dr. Harvey Cushing of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital of Boston, who performed the operation, described it as a "perfectly benign tumor," of which Wood "has since had no symptoms whatsoever."

Dr. Alexander Lambert of this city, who has attended Col. Roosevelt and Wood, and who during the war was medical chief of the Red Cross, corroborated Dr. Cushing, announcing that the removal of the tumor (which had affected Wood's left side) was complete; that there was no danger that the General would become insane from it, and that there had been no mental deterioration of any kind.

Drawing Rooms Jammed.

It was the late Col. Roosevelt's sister, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Wood's loyal supporter, who took the initiative in offering this evidence publicly, through Dr. Lambert, at an overflow meeting at her home, 9 East Sixty-third street, yesterday afternoon. Her drawing rooms were jammed to the doors with fashionable and wealthy women in the Wood following when, without preamble, Mrs. Robinson said:

"Our first speaker is one who has, perhaps, the most important message to give about the man whom both he and I so ardently desire to see President of the United States. Several things are constantly said about Gen. Wood, as things have been said about other candidates, in the light of handicaps.

"One of the things brought home to me essentially is that many people appear to feel that his health is not what it should be, so I have asked his friend and my friend and the friend of Col. Roosevelt to tell from his physician's standpoint of his fitness to be President of the United States. Dr. Lambert is an eminent physician and was the head of the Red Cross as a physician during the war."

"The question of Gen. Wood's health," said Dr. Lambert, "has come up at odd times for a long time. I knew him before and after the Spanish-American War—after his lameness, after his operation—and was his medical adviser for a number of years. From my professional knowledge of his condition I told Gen. Wood he must come out frankly on this question; that the truth never hurt any man.

Writes to Boston Doctor.

"It was suggested that I write Senator Penrose on the subject of his operation, and to refresh my memory I wrote to Dr. Harvey Cushing of Boston, who did the operation, to state accurately what had been done. I said to him: 'I want to use this letter if I choose; I want to use it in the campaign if I choose.'"

Before reading Dr. Cushing's reply, Dr. Lambert described the injury, dating the operation, in answer to Mrs. Robinson's query "about 10 years ago."

"When Gen. Wood was in Cuba," said the doctor, "his desk was immediately beneath the large knob of a chandelier. Jumping up in a hurry, he struck the middle of his head on the knob of the chandelier. Though he was hurt, he thought nothing of it, and continued his work."

It was later that the cyst developed and years before Wood attributed the trouble in his left leg to any serious cause, when Dr. Cushing's operation brought him full relief. Dr. Lambert was at pains to explain how the cells of the right hemisphere of the brain control the motor activities on the left side.

He then read Dr. Harvey Cushing's statement of the operation, which was subsequently sent to Senator Penrose. Dr. Cushing wrote:

"At the operation a cyst was removed from the foot center of the right hemisphere. It had been there many years. It was a perfectly benign tumor and he has since had no symptoms whatsoever. The stiffness and awkwardness of the left foot, which were there before the operation, will be permanent. His mentality, however, was not affected in the slightest, and, so far as anyone can tell his physical condition, he is in absolutely perfect health and enjoys such health as few of us have ever enjoyed. He is the most vigorous and sound human being, physically and mentally, that I ever saw."

Cyst Is Removed.

"In plain words," said Dr. Lambert, "a cyst was taken out of the General's head about the size of a mandarin orange and it didn't bother him any more than a broken leg. There is no danger of his becoming insane from it. There has been no mental deterioration of any kind.

"I saw a great deal of him after he came back from France, after he was wounded. To satisfy Col. Halstead Dorey as to his fitness then, I walked him 10 miles along the shores of Lake Michigan one cold day."

The Doctor laughed when he added that one of the things he likes about Gen. Wood was his reasonableness—"With as strong an opinion as anyone except T. R., and like T. R. willing to take advice." He said Wood had altered some of his training camp regulations on the advice of a young doctor whose opinions he found he'd want to know the assurance of Dr. Harvey Cushing, backed up by Dr. Alexander Lambert, that Gen. Wood is physically and mentally sound," declared Mrs. Robinson in ringing tones. "I think that bother will bother us no more."

The effect was electrical. The women gave wild applause. The tensity of the emotional strain during the doctor's recital had caused unbroken stillness.

While Mrs. James Russell Parsons sketched Wood's career, dwelling on the "injustice" that kept him out of the war, and Capt. Kermit Roosevelt told stories of the General and his boys and T. R. and his boys doing tramps "over or through but never round" anything, there was much demonstration. Mrs. Mary Hatch Willard begged all to leave a pledge to call meetings at their homes. An endless chain of these metings is the aim of the Campaign Committee.

INNER DOORS OF BANK VAULT AT KIMMSWICK, MO., FOIL ROBBERS

Outer Doors Blown Open When Cashier Arrives—No Money Believed to Have Been Taken.

An apparently unsuccessful attempt to rob the Kimmswick Bank at Kimmswick, Mo., 25 miles south of St. Louis, was made early today, according to G. A. Wenom, cashier of the bank, who telephoned the police here that on his arrival at the bank he found the outer doors of the vault blown open. The inner doors, however, had resisted the force of the explosive, but had become so tightly wedged together that Wenom and others who attempted were unable to gain entrance to the vault.

Wenom said that papers were scattered about the floor of the bank but he believes no money was obtained. The time clock on the vault had stopped at 2:30 a. m., indicating the time of the explosion. A description of two young men, who were in Kimmswick yesterday, was given to the police.

MAN DIES AFTER FALLING 30 FEET IN ELEVATOR SHAFT

Tumbles Backward Into Shaft as Elevator Starts After He Pushes Off Truck.

William Johnson, 32 years old of 602 Walnut street, a freight trucker at the Wheeling Corrugating Co., 1010 Spruce street, was fatally injured at 11 a. m. today when he fell from the second floor to the bottom of an elevator shaft at the plant, a distance of about 30 feet. He died at the city hospital 20 minutes later.

Witnesses said he had ascended to the second floor on the elevator with a truck load of freight. He pushed the truck from the elevator and as he was about to step off, the lift suddenly started upward. Johnson stepped to the floor, but was overbalanced and toppled backward into the shaft. It is believed he did not fully stop the elevator, which started again as soon as the weight of the truck was taken off.

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER ARRESTED ON STREET

When Henry Jacobs, 45 years old, of 2234 Franklin avenue, entered the bootlegging business he failed to take all the necessary precautions and, as a result, he and two associates are held by the Federal authorities on charges of violating the Volstead act.

His failure to carefully wrap bottles containing $140 worth of "compound" whisky, made of grain alcohol and burnt sugar, led to his arrest in front of 1015 North High street yesterday afternoon. Two policemen standing in front of that address heard the tinkle of glass as Jacobs and his wife, carrying a suit case and a covered basket, passed. Investigation showed they were carrying 17 quarts of the compound.

Jacobs admitted buying the compound from Alex Bershstein, 1014 North High street, and the latter was arrested. Bershstein told Federal agents where he bought his supply and a house at 916A North Thirteenth street was raided and 30 gallons of grain alcohol and the compound seized. Morris Nashbaum, who was found in the house, was arrested.

At the Federal Building Jacobs pleaded with Chief Prohibition Enforcement Officer Digges to release him and his wife, stating that their children would go hungry if he was detained. Digges permitted him to go. On the way out Jacobs took with him one of the quart bottles of compound which had been seized as evidence. Federal officers, who learned of the theft, pursued him and rearrested him on a charge of transporting whisky. He was then held until he could furnish a bond. The others also were released on bonds.

TWO NEGRO CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS IN TWELFTH

Negroes seeking to nominate Dr. W. A. Venerable, a negro, for Congress on the Republican ticket in the Twelfth District, in which 80 per cent of the voters are said to be negroes, struck a political snag last night when the Liberty League, a rival negro organization, brought out a rival negro candidate. The Venerable supporters say the effect will be to bring about the renomination of Congressman Dyer.

Recently Dr. Venerable paid his filing fee of $50 to become a candidate against Dyer for the nomination. Last night at a meeting of the Liberty League George L. Vaughn, a negro lawyer, was put forward as a candidate against Dyer and Venerable.

Now the Venerable organization members are charging that Vaughn's candidacy is in the interest of Dyer and that it will defeat the movement to elect a negro to Congress in the Twelfth, as it will split the negro vote between Venerable and Vaughn and Dyer will be renominated.

Vaughn was not at the meeting and was not in the city today.

LLOYD GEORGE EXPLAINS TURKISH SETTLEMENT

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 26.—Replying to criticism of the Government's foreign policy by Herbert H. Asquith, member of the House for Paisley, Premier Lloyd George yesterday afternoon gave a detailed explanation of the Turkish settlement.

The Premier said it would have been a blunder to have settled the Turkish problem without giving the United States the most ample opportunity to decide whether it would accept a mandate, because it would have given rise to suspicions that Great Britain and France were taking advantage of the political dissensions in the United States to divide the whole of Turkey among themselves.

"It was only when America definitely refused the mandate that we proceeded without her," Lloyd George declared.

Reasons for Rejecting Proposal.

The Premier said the proposal to oust the Sultan had been rejected as inadequate because it left the question of the Government of Constantinople undecided and the allies were anxious to avoid the expense and responsibility of the administration of Constantinople. With regard to Armenia, the Premier continued, France would have been willing to hand Cilicia to the United States if the latter had accepted the mandate.

"Up to the present we have only received requests from America to protect Armenia without any offer to assume responsibility," Lloyd George said. "We hope France will undertake the responsibility, but it is much to ask considering all the burdens France already has."

The Premier contended that it was impossible for England to send armies to keep order in Armenia and Asia Minor. England would do her utmost to exert pressure in Constantinople to secure good treatment for Christians, he asserted, but was unable to accept a wider responsibility.

Armenians Must Defend Selves.

The Armenians are an exceptionally intelligent people and must begin to defend themselves for the protection of their independence, Lloyd George said, adding that he understood they could easily raise an army of 40,000 men. Great Britain would be willing to supply equipment and officers for their training. If that were done they could defend themselves against the Turks, the Premier declared.

Referring to Central Europe, Lloyd George said:

"If Germany would perform her part of the treaty by volunteering to state what amount of reparations she is able to pay, and if she can prove the impossibility of paying unless she first obtains raw materials, I do not believe either Belgium or France will stand in the way of her obtaining the necessary credits. But there must be a definite indication that she intends to discharge her liabilities."

The serious news has been received in official quarters in London that the Turkish commander in Thrace has notified the allies he does not recognize the authority of any government set up by them in Constantinople, nor will he take any orders from it. He considers their action in occupying the capital to be a rupture of the armistice. He has decreed a general mobilization in Thrace.

Damad Ferid Pasha Is Asked to Form New Turkish Cabinet.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26.—The Turkish Cabinet, headed by Said Pasha, formed on March 9, has resigned and the Sultan has asked Damad Ferid Pasha, former Grand Vizier and Foreign Minister, to form a new Government.

Damad Ferid Pasha was appointed Turkish Grand Vizier and Foreign Minister March 7, 1919, and the following month was named head of the Turkish delegation to the peace conference.

FRISCO CHIEF SURGEON SAYS RESIGNATION WAS REQUESTED

Dr. G. W. Cale Jr., Who Had Held Position 22 Years, Declares No Reason Was Given.

Dr. George W. Cale Jr., whose resignation as chief surgeon for the Frisco Railroad system was announced yesterday, after 22 years service, said today that his resignation was requested by T. A. Hamilton, vice president of the road and president of the Frisco Employes' Hospital Association.

"There was no reason given," said Dr. Cale, "and has been none since. I do not wish to talk of this matter at all save to say that I received word from Mr. Hamilton that my resignation would be acceptable to him. I promptly sent in my resignation, effective April 1, and shall, after that time, devote all of my time to my private practice."

During the time Dr. Cale was in charge of the hospitals and dispensaries the Employes' Association has earned $288,000.

ACCIDENT VERDICT IN DEATH OF BOY STRUCK BY TRUCK

Driver of Machine, Delivering Newspapers, Says Lad Ran Into Street in Front of 907 Cass Avenue.

20TH FATALITY BY AUTO THIS YEAR

Another Youth Cut on Head When Hit by Car—Man Knocked Down, Woman and Two Children Hurt.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the case of Frank Cudakiewicz, 9 years old, of 1517 North Ninth street, who died en route to the central dispensary at 5:15 p. m., yesterday, from injuries suffered a few minutes before, when he was knocked down in front of 907 Cass avenue by a motor truck driven by Harry C. Hanebrink, 21 years old, of 727 Thrush avenue. The boy's skull was fractured.

Hanebrink, who is employed by the Metropolitan Service Co., 1614 Blair avenue, which has a contract to deliver the St. Louis Star to branch agents, was arrested. He said that he was driving west on Cass avenue at 18 or 20 miles an hour.

The boy ran into the street from the south side and crossed behind an eastbound Cass car. Hanebrink said, and he did not see him until he was directly in front of the truck. Hanebrink was released on bond to appear at the inquest.

The accident was the twentieth automobile fatality since Jan. 1, as compared with 18 in the corresponding period last year.

William Jurgens, 10 years old, of 1808 Elliot avenue, was hit by an automobile driven by Hyman Eisenberg, 34 years old, of 2804 Dickson street, a dry goods merchant, in front of 2608 North Market street, at 5:30 p. m. He was taken to the city hospital with a cut on his head and internal injuries. Eisenberg said that the boy ran into the path of his car.

William B. Adams, 46 years old, of 5154 Page boulevard, when crossing Washington avenue at Ninth street at 4 p. m., was knocked down by an automobile driven by William Haller, 4701 Newberry terrace, which was eastbound on Washington avenue. He was cut on the head and bruised.

Mrs. Sarah Waldman, 5104A North Market street, and her two children, Edith, 5 years old, and Pearl, 4 months old, were cut on the face by flying glass when an automobile driven by her husband, Frank Waldman, collided with an iron trolley pole in the center of the street at Academy avenue and Page boulevard at 9:30 p. m. The windshield was smashed. Waldman was making a short turn from Page into Academy and failed to see the pole.

BOYS TELL OF STEALING OATS

Relate How They Bored Holes in Bottom of Bin at Wellston.

Three Wellston boys told Judge Wurdemann in the St. Louis County Juvenile Court today how they had been stealing oats from a bin of the Boehmer Coal Co.'s Wellston branch for some time. They dug under the bin, then drilled holes in the wooden bottom, placing sacks to catch the consequent flow of oats. They said they sold the grain cheap to neighbors and spent the money for moving picture shows and ice cream. They were placed under probation for a year. The branch manager could not estimate the loss.

ABEKEN WAGE INCREASE OPPOSED

Aldermanic Committee Also Against Advance for Miss Sarah Wolf.

The Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Aldermen, it was learned today, has voted against a proposed ordinance increasing the salaires of Rodowe Abeken, Director of Recreation, and Miss Sarah Wolf, supervisor of community centers, to $3600 and $2800, respectively. They are now receiving $2400 and $1800 respectively. Both will receive the 10 per cent increase provided in the standardization bill now in the Board of Aldermen.

The increases for Abeken and Miss Wolf were recommended recently by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Comptroller Nolte was the only one of the three members of the board to oppose the increases.

SPENCER TO GO TO CONNECTICUT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Senator Spencer of Missouri will attend a conference of Republicans to be held in New Haven, Conn., Monday to further the movement for suffrage ratification in that State. An effort is being made to induce the Governor to call the Legislature into special session to act on the suffrage amendment. This is the third occasion on which suffrage leaders have enlisted Spencer's services.

He spoke before the New Jersey Legislature shortly before that body ratified the amendment and also took part in the contest now being waged in Delaware.

Personal contributions are being received by the American Trust Co., St. Louis Trust Co. and Mortgage Trust Co. The contributions of school children, made yesterday and today, are to be taken by principals to Supt. Withers' office.

FORMER ST. LOUIS DOCTOR DIES

Dr. A. C. Stanley, at one time a practicing physician who later became vice president of the Goodbar Shoe Co. of St. Louis, which has since gone out of business, died at Tillar, Ark., yesterday from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy. He had resided at Tillar for the last 10 years. He was 67 years old.

He resided here for more than 30 years.

He is survived by his widow, a sister of David W. Gates, Prohibition Commissioner for the Southwestern region, and by two children, Mrs. M. Sage of Boston, Mass., and P. A. Stanley of Tillar. The body was brought here for burial.

CANDIDATES ON FENCE PIN HOPES TO COURT

If Supreme Tribunal Will Relieve Congress of 'Intoxicating' Problem, They'll Be Happy.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—It is the prayerful hope of candidates for the House and Senate who are averse to taking a flatfooted stand for or against the Volstead prohibition enforcement law, with its definition of an intoxicant as any beverage containing one-half of one per cent of alcohol, that the Supreme Court will act on pending cases involving the validity of this law in time to save them from embarrassment.

If the Supreme Court should take away from Congress its self-assumed power to define an intoxicant, then the question of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage would be left to the decision of the courts. Test cases would be raised throughout the country to determine what alcoholic content is permitted under the terms of the eighteenth amendment, which merely forbids the manufacture, sale and transportation of "intoxicating" beverages. Ultimately all decisions of the Federal Courts would head into the Supreme Court for final determination.

This is the consummation devoutly desired by candidates who are on the fence with respect to the light wines and beer issue. They hope that it will be reached soon enough to relieve them of the necessity of declaring themselves one way or the other in primary election contests.

If the Supreme Court should uphold the validity of the Volstead act, thereby leaving with Congress the power to fix a definition of "intoxicating," candidates would have to face squarely the percentage issue which is now being raised in Missouri and other states.

When the court will decide is purely speculative. Next week it will take a recess until April 12 and the decision may come on any Monday following. The earlier the decision, if it should take the percentage question out of politics, the better pleased will be the candidates mentioned.

FACTORY FOR BLIND SAID TO HAVE NONBLIND ON PAYROLL

Manager of Broom Plant Denies Any of State Aid Goes to Workers Able to See.

Charges that the United Workers for the Blind Broom Factory at 1418 North Sarah street is using funds appropriated by the State to pay workers who are not blind were heard by the Missouri Commission for the Blind today in the offices of President James C. Jones in the Third National Bank Building. The complaint was made by the International Broom and Whisk Makers' Union No. 45 and the St. Louis Broom Manufacturers' Association, with the request that the factory be denied further State aid.

The commission took no action. Adolph Michaels, blind owner of the factory, testified that $275 he received monthly from the State is used entirely in paying blind workers. Several workers who are not blind are paid from the $600 monthly earnings of the factory, the rest of which also is used in supplementing the State fund and paying the blind employes.

ARTILLERY DISPLAY TO REMAIN IN CITY UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Traveling Unit Parked on Twelfth Street to Interest Prospective Army Recruits.

The field artillery park established on the west side of Twelfth street, between Market and Chestnut, yesterday by Capt. W. N. Range, three other officers and 26 enlisted men of the Third Field Artillery Brigade, Camp Pike, Ark., will remain until Wednesday. The purpose of this traveling unit, which includes four guns, is to stimulate artillery recruiting, and to demonstrate to the public life in the new army under the Government's plan for vocational and academic education for the men.

Many spectators have been attracted to the exhibition, where the soldiers of the party explain the equipment and talk to prospective recruits. Most interesting of the guns is the 155-millimeter French gun, which was used by the Third Division. It has on its olive drab shield four gold stars for the four men who were killed in battle beside it, and six "wound" stripes for the direct hits it suffered.

215 PRECINCTS AVERAGE 35 NEW VOTERS EACH

This Registration Would Mean 17,500 for City if True in All Precincts.

Returns today from 215 of the 500 precincts where registration was conducted yesterday, for the special election May 11 on the $24,000,000 bond issue, showed an enrollment of 7441, an average of 35 names to a precinct. If this average were maintained throughout the city, it would mean that 17,500 were enrolled yesterday.

Not all are new names. It cannot be told, until the canvassers have completed their work, how large a part of the work done yesterday was merely transferring the names of voters who have moved from one precinct to another. At present such names appear as additions in their new precincts, but the clerks' canvass will result in striking them off the books in their former precincts.

Many returned service men were enrolled, and it is believed that, after all deductions have been made, an increase will appear over the former registration figures. The number previously on the books was approximately 144,500.

One Precinct Gets 144.

The largest number of names enrolled in any of the 31 precincts first reported was 144, in the ninth precinct of the Twenty-eighth Ward.

Members of the Rotary Club, at its meeting at Hotel Statler yesterday, signed cards indorsing the bond issue and pledging signers to work for its success. William T. Findly addressed the meeting on the largest of the bond items, $9,000,000 for River des Peres.

The Paint, Oil and Varnish Club, at a dinner at the Missouri Athletic Association last night, indorsed the bond issue, following an address by Street Director Talbert.

The Street Car Men's Union has passed a resolution indorsing the bonds, according to an announcement made by H. N. Nelson, president of the union.

Mayor Kiel spoke in advocacy of the bond issue last night, before the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at Hotel Statler.

Discussion of plans for the proposed municipal Auditorium and Convention Hall has been begun by business men. The $900,000 named in the bond proposal is considered about sufficient for the purchase of a suitable site. The task of erecting a $2,000,000 building will then confront the business organizations.

Charles E. Pagett, manager of the General Motors Truck Co., has written to P. H. Brockman, chairman of the automobile committee of the bond organization, offering to assume the responsibility of getting the salesmen of the automobile interests in St. Louis to work for the raising of the building fund. Pagett was formerly a resident of Atlanta, and he tells, in his letter, of the use made by Atlanta of its large convention hall. The Metropolitan Grand Opera Co. appears for one week, every spring, in this hall.

METHODIST ORPHANS' HOME BOYS WIN BIRD HOUSE PRIZE

Members of Boy Scout troops took 923 bird houses, which they had made, to the Twelfth street steps of the city hall yesterday afternoon, where they were photographed, preparatory to being turned over to the city for use in the parks. Mayor Kiel was present, and congratulated the boys on their enterprise and generosity.

Twenty-seven boys in Troop No. 1, comprising youngsters of the Methodist Orphans' Home for Boys, Bonhomme and St. Louis avenues, Clayton, made 651 of the bird houses and won the silver loving cup to be awarded by the St. Louis District Council to the troop turning in the greatest number. Troop No. 22 was second with 80; troop 104 made 70; troops 71 and 76, 41 each; troops 46 and 88, 12 each; troops 57 and 61, four each; troops 19, 38 and 43, two each, and troops 9 and 14, one each. The troops in the St. Louis district easily outdistanced New York City, which stands second in the list, with 432.

Members of the winning troop had few tools, many boys using rocks in place of hammers, gathering their odd bits of lumber at lumber yards and scenes of building construction in Clayton. Daniel Bauer and Earl Swinford were the individual stars, making 72 each, while Kenneth Swinford made 55 and Harold Wild 44. Frank J. Scott is scoutmaster of Troop No. 1.

Americans in Argentine Bank.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Organization of a bank in the Argentine republic, operated jointly by Argentine and American interests to foster reciprocal banking and trade relations between the two countries, and especially to finance exports and imports, was announced here last night. Episcopalians Ask Wilson to Use Influence to That End.

The Rev. Dr. Randolph McKim of Washington was entrusted with delivery of it.

ILLINOIS MINES TO STOP WORK APRIL 1, FARRINGTON SAYS

Miners' State President Asserts It Will Not Be Strike, but "Unavoidable Suspension."

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., March 26.—"There will undoubtedly be a suspension of work in the coal mines of Illinois April 1," Frank Farrington, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois said here today.

"Understand, it will not be a strike, but an unavoidable suspension of work. It may be for a short time or a long time."

"Our agreement expires at midnight March 31," Farrington continued. "I believe it will be impossible to keep the men at work after that.

"It is possible, of course, that some sort of an agreement will be reached at the meeting in New York Monday to keep the mines running, but even at that a brief suspension of work will occur."

Final warning that stabilization of the coal industry depends on the purchase and storage of fuel during the spring and summer months—to prevent a shortage next winter—was given yesterday by the Bituminous Coal Commission before it ceased to function as a governmental agency.

By exclusive order, President Wilson relieved the members of the commission of their duties and transferred to the council of National Defense the work of carrying out their recommendations.

Organized industry already has been pledged to purchase its coal during the summer and President Wilson has written a personal letter to the heads of departments and Federal agencies asking that coal for winter use be laid up at an early date.

WASHINGTON U. STUDENTS AND FACULTY ASSEMBLE

First of Three Special Gatherings Valedictory Occasion for Dr. Langsdorf.

The first of a series of three monthly general assemblels of Washington University faculty and students, to take place in Graham Memorial chapel, was held yesterday as a sort of valedictory occasion for Dr. Alexander S. Langsdorf, professor of electrical engineering, who will retire from the faculty of the institution at the close of the current school year to enter upon an industrial career.

Owing to the absence of Chancellor Hall, the meeting was presided over by Dr. Otto Heller, professor of modern European literature, and the Rev. William C. Bitting of the Second Baptist Church, conducted the religious services.

The popularity of Prof. Langsdorf was attested by a wave of applause at his appearance that did not cease until the regulation cheer broke into it. This was repeated at the conclusion of his address, which was on the subject, "Are We Going Forward?" and which subsided only when he arose and announced that his going into the outside business world would not terminate his connection with the university, where it is his aim to take active part in one or more special courses in future years.

COMMITTEE REFUSES TO AWARD PRIZE IN BOARD WALK CONTEST

The jury committee in the Board Walk slogan contest refused yesterday to make an award on the ground that none submitted was worthy. The prize offered was a block of 50 admission tickets to the Board Walk fete.

The jury presented five slogans which it deemed worthy of honorable mention.

"Get the Fun in Funds," by E. D. Wangelin, 1643 Kennett place.

"Fun From the Word Go," by Adolph Drey.

The jury recommended that the contest be continued another week and that it be thrown open to expert advertising writers.

ST. LAWRENCE SHIP CANAL OPPOSED BY NEW YORK MEN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 26.—New York delegates to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress at a conference in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, declared themselves opposed to a scheme to make the St. Lawrence River navigible for ocean ships between Montreal and Lake Ontario, at the joint cost of the United States and Canada. An international boundary commission is having hearings on the subject. Chicago, Duluth and other Great Lake points are strongly for the scheme.

Charles N. Chadwick, who presided at the conference, said New York views the subject with an unselfish mind, but as the State furnishes a great percentage of the foreign commerce and of the national income, it would naturally be expected to contribute a proportional percentage to the cost of a St. Lawrence ship canal, with no benefit to itself and with some loss through diversion of traffic.

He pointed out that ice in the Great Lakes and connecting waterways furnishes an impassable barrier for ocean ships for five or six months a year. Fogs and cross currents of a dangerous coast line also were an objection, imposing a high rate of maritime insurance.

WOULD AMERICANIZE AMERICANS

Dr. Peter Roberts Warns Against Haste in Work Among Aliens.

Americanization is needed among Americans as well as among foreigners, declared Dr. Peter Roberts of New York, in an address yesterday before the executive secretaries of the St. Louis Y. M. C. A. Dr. Roberts developed the present system of teaching English to the foreign-born used by the Y. M. C. A.

The speaker declared that real Americanization could not be hurried, but was a slow process, taking time, skill and patience. He warned against the danger of reaction in the nation-wide movement to make good citizens of the aliens and said that in some sections it had become hysteria and in others had passed into indifference.

EYE SPECIALIST SAYS MOVIES DO NOT INJURE

Dr. John Green, Jr., Assures Mothers Little Harm Comes if Films Do Not Flicker.

Many children will thank Dr. John Green Jr., professor of opthalmology at Washington University and eminent eye specialist, for telling an audience of mothers that the movies are not injurious to the eyes, that is, not necessarily so, if the films are projected from the most improved machines where there is but little flickering noticeable upon the screen and provided, too, the spectator sits well back, say 40 feet from the screen.

If a child complains he cannot read the legends at that distance, more than likely he is affligted with nearsightedness and needs glasses. But having no refractory defect or other anomoly of the muscles of the eye, he may without after effect, indulge moderately in the movies. Of course, if he afterwards suffers from headache, that, too, is an indication that he needs glasses. The animated cartoons, while admittedly fascinating, are not so good. Being too abrupt in transition from one movement attitude to another, they fatigue the eye and brain.

The children will not be so glad to have some of their favorite diversions and the instruments thereof, such as sharp shears used in cutting out pictures, air rifles, bean shooters, snow balls, mumblepeg, golf balls condemned as menaces by the doctor. Dr. Green, speaking on the care of children's eyes and Dr. Bland D. Pippen on the care of the teeth, gave the final lectures of a series which has been given under the auspices of the Community School. Dr. Pippen said he would like to tell the mothers how to prevent decay of their children's teeth, but he would have to share that responsibility with the medical doctors. He lamented that dentists and doctors are not required to have identical training since the two sciences are so intimately related. Where doctors formerly ignored the teeth as important influences to health, now they are attributing too many ills to conditions of the teeth and too frequently ordering extractions.

Saliva in Mouth Important.

An abundance of saliva in the mouth, contributing the alkaline element to neutralize other acids caused by the fermentation of foods in the mouth he commended as an important factor in preventive dentistry. Thorough mastication to induce saliva also is important. Fruit acids taken before and after meals to induce the flow of saliva, he recommended. Infectious diseases, which usually afflict children during the period when permanent teeth are in formation, impair the formation and make teeth susceptible to decay, he said. "If we could keep infectious diseases away from children until they have passed the age of immunity, say about 14 years, there would be few decayed teeth until after the age of 35, when they are again susceptible to decay," he said.

Dr. Green, taking up the important subject of proper illumination, said light should always come from the left so that a shadow is not cast upon the work from the right arm; that light should never enter the eye directly but be reflected directly upon the page and that the page should never be of glazed paper; that artificial light should not come from far overhead, but should be within two feet of the work and always shaded with an opaque shade.

Proper Posture Necessary.

The proper posture while reading is important, he said. School desks should be adjustable and should be adjusted to the growth of the child at the beginning of each school term. The seat should be of such height that the distance from the floor equals the distance from the bend of the knee to the shoe top. Desks should be on a level with the elbow. The child should not be allowed to draw up the knees, cock the head on one side so that he looks at an object slantingly, or bend over so that the blood vessels of the neck are compressed, as this affects the eyes. Nor should he be allowed to read while reclining, nor keep on reading in the twilight instead of turning on the electricity.

Every child's eyes should be tested for defects of vision at the beginning of school life, he advised. Children are not born near-sighted; this affliction develops from far sightedness. The nearsighted child needs glasses for constant wear. If taken in hand before this defect develops and the child undergoes no exhausting disease such as scarlet fever, diphtheria, measles, the error of vision may be corrected and the glasses discarded.

Crossed Vision May Be Corrected.

If cross eyes appear after the age of 18 months, treatment cannot begin too quickly. Simple treatment may accomplish the correction of crossed vision if administered in time, otherwise loss of sight may result. Defects of vision are not always easy to detect in a child, he said.

Granulated eyelids, the doctor described as identical with trachoma and very much more serious than follicular conjunctivitis, the very common inflammation with which they frequently are confused.

As to injuries to the eye, the doctor said, "speaking generally, the less done the better. Sterile gauze may be bound upon the injured member, and the services of an oculist should be sought without delay." He scoffed at the idea that a flaxseed will remove foreign bodies as "a pernicious notion." It only introduces another foreign body causing added irritation and necessitating the removal of both, he said. He commended the practice of pulling the upper eyelid down over the lower as a means of sweeping out the foreign fragment.

A Word in Advance concerning the New

REGAL SHOE STORE

for Men - - - - for Women

to be opened next week at

804 Olive Street

IN a few days now, the new Regal Shoe Store in St. Louis which has been in preparation for several months, will be opened in the heart of the shopping district.

If this announcement meant nothing more than the opening of another shoe store in St. Louis, it would perhaps deserve little or no comment.

We believe that it means a great deal more than that to the St. Louis public.

We have always the feeling that the function of a Regal Shoe Store is not so much a shoe business as a shoe service.

It crystallizes the far-reaching Regal principle:—to concentrate on a selection of wanted styles and excellent leathers—to sell many pairs of shoes with only a conservative profit on each pair—to do away with fads, fancies and everything that could make Regal Shoes cost more.

This principle has been followed now for nearly thirty years. It has given the Regal Company commanding position in the fine leather market, with exceptional ability to make excellent shoes at a price well within the average asked for equal grades.

We are happy now to offer these exceptional styles and values in two stores to the Men and Women of St. Louis.

BREAK IN RECKLESS BUYING REPORTED

Statement of Federal Reserve Bank Says Buyers Are Demanding Lower Prices.

Belief that the peak of high prices has passed is stated to be general in the Eighth Federal Reserve District, by William McC. Martin, chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, in his monthly report made public today.

"Production is more nearly approximating demand," he states. "The spirit of conservatism that developed during the first weeks of February still is in evidence. Business men are proceeding with greater caution. The general public seems to be making its purchases with greater discretion."

This last comment is in contrast with Martin's report for January in which he declared that the Christmas season in the district of which St. Louis is the capital was one of buying to extravagance and the marketing of Liberty Bonds.

Break in Reckless Buying.

He comments now that shoppers are demanding lower prices and spending their money less recklessly with the result that most department stores report a falling off of 10 per cent in sales from January, though February, 1920, showed an increase in volume of sales of from 10 to 40 per cent over January, 1919. The report further says:

"During March, retail trade has shown some improvement over February, but buyers are not spending their money as recklessly as they have during the past several months. Some houses report that their customers are demanding lower prices and restricting their purchases accordingly. Department stores, in their turn, are making a strong effort to stop the rise in the prices charged them for merchandise. They are not placing orders larger than their needs, as was the case during last year's scramble for merchandise, but are ordering only what they think they will actually need. They feel that with increased production there should be enough goods to go around and to permit of orders being filled fully."

Demand for Clothing.

However, producers of clothing still report an unusual demand. Some concerns report increases as great as 360 per cent over February of 1919 and declare that the demand is for the better class of goods. Manufacturers of men's hats, in some cases, say that their sales for one day this year equal the sales of four or five days last year. Wholesale dry goods houses state a slight falling off in business.

One interesting observation in view of the ascending prices on cigars and cigarettes is that farmers are complaining that they are receiving too low a price for their tobacco crops.

CITY HOSPITAL SURGEONS PLAN UNUSUAL OPERATION

Will Remove Bone Growths From Knees of Woman Unable to Walk for a Year.

City Hospital surgeons today made it known that next Tuesday they will perform an unusual operation on Mrs. Minerva Stiles, 45 years old, of 3104 Cherokee street, who for the last year has been unable to walk because of arthritis, an inflammation of her knee joints, as a result of which bone growths have formed and joined the knee sockets to the thighbones, thus stiffening the legs.

In the operation, Mrs. Stiles will be put under ether and the surgeons will make 6-inch incisions at the knees and chisel away the foreign bone growth. They will then take fatty tissue from the incision wounds and place it in the knee cavities to afford lubrication for the sockets.

To prevent a re-hardening of the joints after the operation, Mrs. Stiles will be placed in bed and fitted with an apparatus through which, by working a pulley with her hand she can keep her legs in constant up and down motion in her waking hours. She will be required to work this pulley for several weeks. The surgeons say an operation of this kind has never before been performed at the St. Louis City Hospital.

Craft Which Left Here Sunday Grounds at Memphis Terminal in Windstorm.

A barge of the Government River Service, which was loaded with merchandise shipped by St. Louis firms, grounded in a windstorm in the Memphis terminal yesterday and part of the cargo plunged into the river as the barge listed in the gale.

Lewis T. Kavanaugh, manager of the Service, said today that he had not yet obtained information on what part of the cargo was lost. The barge, he said, was No. 13 of 500-ton capacity, which departed from St. Louis Sunday as part of the tow of the Oscar F. Barrett. He said that it was loaded with about 15 freight carloads of tar paper, syrup and a beverage produced by a brewery here.

SIR OLIVER LODGE STATES HIS BELIEFS ON LIFE AND DEATH

Tells Audience at Odeon That Man's Material Body Dies, but That Ether Body Lives On.

PROMISES "PROOFS" IN LECTURE TONIGHT

English Scientist Says He Believes in Spiritual Life Prior to Earthly Birth—Other Theories.

Sir Oliver Lodge, noted English scientist, who says he holds conversations with the dead, stated his beliefs concerning life and death, before an audience at the Odeon yesterday afternoon. His reasons for so believing—the proofs of his theory—will be contained in a second lecture which he will deliver at the Odeon at 8:15 o'clock tonight, he announced.

He asked his hearers, for the time being, to suspend judgment on whether his beliefs were reasonable, and wait until they had heard the evidence. Meantime, he said, he simply wanted to outline the conclusions to which that evidence had led him.

His "scheme of life," as he called it, reduced to its elementals, consisted mainly in the following propositions: That man has two bodies—his material body, which presents itself to the senses, and his ether body, which is not recognizable by the senses; that when the material body dies, the ether body continues to live, unimpaired, retaining the character and personality which were in evidence during life.

Association of Bodies.

He believes, he said, that the ether body is the spirit, or what we commonly call the soul, and that it has existed throughout eternity, and always will exist; that the earthly life is simply a brief period during which teh ether body is associated with the material body, to afford humans an opportunity to develop character. When that association is dissolved by death, the ether body returns to a spiritual mode of existence, retaining the characteristics acquired during the earthly life. However, he supposed that the spiritual existence following death is of a higher stage that that which preceded birth.

More succinctly, he believed that men exist as a form of spiritual life prior to their earthliy birth, but without character or personality. During their stay on earth, they acquire character and personality that remains with them after death.

The audience, which filled the balcony and about two-thirds of the lower floor, gave the speaker scrupulous attention. Slight pattering of applause by persons evidently in sympathy with his beliefs followed one or two declarations, and there was generous applause at the end. It was obvious that many were skeptical, and went to be convinced. It was evident that they were impressed by Sir Oliver's sincerity. Prices of admission were 55 cents to $2.20, including war tax.

Appearance Against Belief.

"I admit in beginning that there is much in the appearance of things against such a notion," he said. "But we have learned not to trust the appearance of things. To our primitive ancestors, the earth was a flat surface, with a dome-shaped sky over it, lighted by the sun, moon and stars. And that is what it now appears to animals undoubtedly, although their senses are as good as our own. You and I, however, know that it is nothing of the sort. The Milky Way appears as a streak of small points of light, but we know, as a matter of fact, that it is composed of millions of solar systems, some of them much larger than ours. So much for the appearance of things. The appearance of a man after death is the corpse.

"When man becomes more philosophic, however, he begins to pay less attention to the body, and more to the principle which animates the body. That principle exists. My doctrine is that when a thing once exists, it never goes out of existence. In science, things don't jump in and out of existence.

Ether of Space.

"I believe that the most important element of existence is the ether of space. It is in everything. It holds together the atoms which constitute all matter. Electricity, magnetism, light and vibration are all but properties of the ether. Every object has an ether aspect, just as it has a material aspect.

"It is my belief that mind is associated with both the material aspect and the ether aspect of man, and, I suspect, more closely with the ether aspect than the material. I suspect some day that we shall be able to define this ether body as the soul, and then these things will sound less fantastic and superstitious.

"Yet, despite the vast importance of ether, it is not perceptible to the senses. We cannot see, hear or feel it, although we know it is in us, about us, and everywhere. It is very hard for us to find, for the very same reason that a deep-sea fish would have a hard time discovering water. Water is about the last thing a fish could discover. The reason is that it has been so wholly immersed in it since birth that it has no conception of an existence in any other substance.

Says Material Body Wears Out.

"The material body wears out and dies, although, for that matter, we may soon see something new in that line. Old age is being studied intensely at the Rockefeller Institute, and it now appears possible that if poisons and injuries are kept away, living tissue may be kept alive indefinitely. However, that is another subject.

"At any rate, I do not believe the ether body can wear out or die. Its properties are indestructible. And, if it does continue, it is simply out of our ken—not out of existence.

"Those who have passed over say that they feel as substantial as they did here. They say if anybody is ghosts or dreamers it is us, embodied here in these prisons of flesh. Those others have simply been freed, emancipated.

"The very association of the spirit with matter is the greatest mystery of all, to me. It is hard to understand how matter and spirit can interact. Why are we thus encased in these material prisons, isolated and separated from the vast majority of our fellows? I think it is

"FLU" Advice

Keep free from constipation—the healthy body fights best

YOUR physician will tell you that most diseases are invited by the habit of constipation. Taking a physic now and then won't keep you well; your doctor will tell you that right food habits help you to prevent constipation.

Thousands of people are eating Kellogg's Krumbled Bran because they find it a food which keeps them naturally, normally regular—helps the intestinal tract to avoid storing up poisons and infections which weaken your resistance when such epidemics as the "flu" come.

If you or your children are so unfortunate as to contract the "flu," get a doctor at once and follow his instructions absolutely. But it is wise to try to keep your body so healthy that it can throw off infections, and the best way to do this is to avoid the habit of constipation.

Kellogg's

is ready to eat at breakfast, just when it will do you the most good. Tempting in flavor, appetizing in appearance, a real cereal food—new and different from any bran you ever saw before—not a medicine—it cleanses the alimentary tract in a gentle, thorough manner.

Try it now. Get a package from your grocer today.

W. K. Kellogg

The best tasting breads, muffins, pancakes, etc., are made with Kellogg's Krumbled Bran. Recipes on each package.

After Whooping Cough—What?

This is No. 4 of a series of advertisements, prepared by a competent physician, explaining how certain diseases which attack the air passages—such as Pneumonia, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Measles or even a long continued Cold—often leave these organs in an inflamed, congested state, thus affording a favorable foothold for invading germs. And how Vick's VapoRub may be of value in this condition.

Whooping cough is the "meanest" disease that childhood is heir to. Who rarely fatal in itself, except children under two years of age, still it hangs on so long—the coughing paroxysms are so violent, preventing proper sleep and digestion—that when the disease does disappear it leaves the child weakened and run down. In addition the violent coughing racks and strains the air passages and after recovery this irritation frequently remains.

During this period of convalescence the child should be most carefully watched until full strength is restored and the air passages regain their normal tone. A prominent authority even goes so far as to say—"There is more criminal neglect in connection with whooping cough than with any other disease."

While the disease is active, Vick's VapoRub usually helps to lessen the violence of the coughing, but it is during convalescence that Vicks is most valuable.

Because Vicks acts locally (stimulation thru the skin) draw out the inflammation, attract the blood away from the congested spots and relieve the cough. In addition the medicinal ingredients of Vicks are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors are breathed in all night long, thus bringing the medication to bear directly upon the inflamed areas.

Vicks should be rubbed in over the throat and chest until the skin is red—then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying swallow a small bit the size of a pea.

Children's digestions are delicate—easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Vicks, therefore, is particularly recommended, since it is externally applied and so can be used often and freely without the slightest harmful effects.

Samples to new users will be sent free on request to the Vick Chemical Company, 234 Broad Street, Greensboro, N. C.

Recognition on "Other Side."

In respect to conditions on "the other side," Sir Oliver said "those who had gone over" said their appearance was unchanged. We shall certainly recognise each other and be recognized, he said. He said that after a medium had been in a trance, communicating with the spirit of a dead person whom the medium had never seen, Sir Oliver had made a test by throwing a number of photographs on the table before the medium, just as the latter was awakening, and asking the medium if she recognized any of the photographs. Invariably she pointed out the photograph of the person with whose spirit she had just been talking, he said.

When they have just "passed over," they frequently remark, "how like earth it is here," said the speaker. Later, they ask to correct this impression, he said. There are many things in the new state which they say they are unable to describe, because there are no words or ideas among us to fit those things, he said, just as it would be impossible to describe a landscape to a man who had been blind from birth.

Reference to Religion.

"I am often asked if my beliefs are consonant with religion," he continued. "I say they strengthen the Christian religion. Of course, they are not in agreement with all forms of that religion. There are many forms, some of which are very crude. One is so crude that it teaches that there are only two states of existence after this, and that some of us go directly into the presence of divinity upon leaving here, and that the remainder descend to association with devils. I don't suppose that any intelligent person believes that any longer, but you all know that it has been taught in the past, and believed.

"Moreover, if there is a form of religion that says we wait in the grave until some judgment day of the future, and are then called forth and judged, and some sent to one place, and the rest sent to another, I say that teaching is in defiance of common sense and ordinary reason.

Says Gravestones Lie.

"If there is a stone that says: 'Here lies John Jones,' it is lying itself, because John Jones is not there. His old material body may be there, but that is of no more importance to John Jones than the old clothes he left behind. As Socrates prepared to drink the hemlock, his friends asked where he wanted them to bury him. He replied angrily: 'You can bury me where you like if you can catch me, but I won't be there.'"

In this connection Sir Oliver observed that the bodies of the soldiers fallen in France should be allowed to remain there. "Your son isn't there," he said. "The thing that is there is of no importance. He is with the great choir invisible, on the other side."

He said that the reasonable presumption regarding life after death is that each will have a proper niche and place in the scheme, and will go on working and striving to reach a higher place. It is no more reasonable to suppose that any of us are fit for immediate contact with Deity than to suppose that any are bad enough to be condemned and abandoned forever, he said.

Reason for Absence of Memories.

"I say that my beliefs are exceedingly consonant with the essence of the Christian religion, and with the revelation as stated in the gospels," he said. Returning to his discussion of existence, he continued:

"I am asked why, if we were in existence before this life, we have no memory of it. I think that our present association with matter prevents that. Or, perhaps memory is a characteristic we do not acquire until this life. I am asked how those on the other side can know more about us than we know about them. I reply, that they are beings in a more advanced state. I am sometimes asked if I believe in reincarnation—if the soul will be reborn into the earth in another body. I do not know. Perhaps some of us will be given another chance to form character; I do not know.

"I am asked if the other world is like this. I am not certain that there are two. We see this world in the matter aspect. I am not certain that they do not see it from another and higher aspect. Thomas Huxley, that great man under whom I once studied, said that we know about as much of the universe in which we live as a worm in a flower pot on a London balcony knows about that city."

Second Lecture Tonight.

The speaker had said earlier, however, that he did not agree with the views on religion held by Huxley, who was one of the most formidable antagonists the church has ever had. Huxley was an agnostic scientist and philosopher.

Concluding with an expression of what he and others are living for, Sir Oliver said: "We are seekers after truth, toiling up a slope. It may be that when we reach the summit we shall find the prophets and the saints have won up on the wings of faith. But honest endeavor and sincere investigation can never be wrong, and if we reach the same goal by different means, we shall simply shake hands when we meet."

Throughout the lecture recurred similar efforts by the speaker to reconcile his beliefs with what he considers the essential principles of Christianity. When asked, before the lecture, if he did not consider the latter more akin to the religious philosophy of Buddhism than philosophy, he replied that he did not know enough about Buddhism to say.

The subject of his lecture tonight, at which he will relate instances of what he considers communication with the dead, is "The Evidence for Survival."

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment, which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost: Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength). Take this home and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh, and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

What Germany's Week-End Revolution May Lead To

The outbreaks and disorders in Germany, some for monarchy and some for Bolshevism, bring up sharply the question whether it is to the best interests of the Allies to enforce upon Germany the terms of the treaty. A Washington dispatch says a fear is felt in official circles that Russian and German Bolshevism may join hands and drag Europe down into red ruin unless aid is extended. "Simple sagacity, apart from any more generous consideration, sanctions a liberal enforcement of the peace terms," avers the Atlanta Journal, which remarks that "it would be a strange sort of equity that would end the play by plunging the rescued heroine back into calamity rather than spare the villian a pang or two of his sentence."

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for this week, March 27th, presents a study of American editorial opinion upon the enforcement of the Versailles Treaty, and by reading it the average reader will get an unclouded idea of many problems that confront the Allied nations at the present time.

TWO FORMER BUSBOYS OWN 9 MOVIE THEATERS

Brothers Who Worked for $1 a Day in 1914 Have Gross Income of $775,000.

Six years ago Charles Skouras, 20 years old, now residing at 5759A McPherson avenue, was a busboy at the Jefferson Hotel, working for $1 a day and board. His brother, Spyros, 24, now living at 5915A Etzel avenue, was employed in the same capacity at the Planters Hotel. Today they control nine St. Louis moving picture theaters which have a gross revenue of approximately $775,000 a year.

The interesting facts about their business success are disclosed by their closing yesterday of a $350,000 deal in which they acquired the New Grand Central Theater, Grand and Lucas avenues, and the Central Theater, Sixth and Market streets.

In 1914 they decided to quit working as hotel busboys, and invest their savings in some paying business. Unlike many of their fellow countrymen from Greece, they did not invest in a candy kitchen or restaurant. The moving picture business was developing rapidly at this time and they decided to try that.

First Investment $4000.

They bought an interest in the Olympia Theater, then a nickelodeon, at Fourteenth and Market streets. Their initial investment was about $5000 and they were assisted by others in raising the capital. Later they bought out their associates. The Olympia had a seating capacity of 800.

Under the name of the Olympia Amusement Co., the brothers a year later purchased the Lafayette Theater, another nickelodeon, at Jefferson and Lafayette avenues. Business was so good that within six months they were able to sell the Olympia and Lafayette for enough money to buy the Pageant Theater on Delmar boulevard and Laurel avenue, and the Crystal Airdome, across the street from the Pageant.

Last June they purchased the West End Lyric, the Lyric Skydome and the Downtown Lyric from Mrs. Rose Cornelius, last October they bought the Shaw Theater at Thirty-ninth street and Shaw avenue, and last January they bought the Arsenal Theater at Grand avenue and Arsenal street.

Raised $350,000 to Swing Deal.

A few weeks ago when they went to Edmond Koeln, City Collector, and at that time chief owner of the New Grand Central and Central Theaters, with a proposition to buy those properties together with the Grand Central Film Exchange, a distributing agency for First National productions, Koeln told them they could not raise enough money to buy him out. He set the figure at $350,000 and then forgot all about it, believing that the Skouras brothers would give up the idea of buying.

A week later the brothers informed Koeln that his offer had been tentatively accepted. They made a deposit, consulted friends and within two weeks were able to close the deal.

Their total investments in moving picture theaters since they started six years ago have been approximately $600,000 and they now own nine theaters and airdomes.

Their brother, George P. Skouras, 24 years old, is associated with them as manager of the Pageant Theater, and he has acquired a financial interest in the Olympia Amusement Co. John Sweeney will remain as manager of the Central Theater, but William Sievers, manager of the New Grand Central, will quit to engage in other business as soon as he has made the Skouras brothers acquainted with the business routine of the film exchange.

DEFENSE TESTIMONY OPENS IN SMITHSON MURDER TRIAL

Self-Defense to Be Plea of Wife Who Shot and Killed Railroad Engineer.

Testimony for the defense was begun today at the trial of Mrs. Lillian Smithson, who shot and killed her husband, Harvey Smithson, a railroad engineer, at their home, 4402A Manchester avenue, June 21 last.

In outlining her case her attorney said it would be shown that her husband treated her cruelly and that a part of her defense would be that just before the shooting she accidentally bumped against her husband, who was sleeping on a couch, and that he reached for a revolver, intending to shoot her. She grabbed the revolver and it was discharged, he said, her act being in defense of her own life.

Mrs. Bertha Allen of 4404A Manchester avenue, a witness for the State, yesterday testified that after the shooting Mrs. Smithson said to her: "God only knows why I did it."

THREE FORTUNE TELLERS FINED

Man, Wife and Another Woman Penalized $100 Each.

Charles B. Williams and his wife, Mary, of 1538 South Broadway, and Lena Stevens, 1011 Franklin avenue, each were fined $100 in Police Court today on charges of fortune telling.

Two policewomen testified that they visited the two addresses yesterday and upon payment of $1 received prophecies of wealth and other agreeable things.

E. S. Pierce Personalty $89,642.

An inventory of the estate of Edward S. Pierce of 4950 Lindell boulevard, who was treasurer of the Cupples Woodenware Co., and who died Nov. 10 last, was filed in the Probate Court today. Personal property amounting to $89,642.94 is listed, of which $75,836 is stock in the Cupples company. His estate was left to his wife and two children.

DELOUSING MACHINERY IDLE AS TYPHUS RAGES IN POLAND

Head of U. S. Medical Unit Says 95 Per Cent of People Have or Have Had Disease.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—While American delousing machinery has been lying idle in Poland for nine months, typhus fever has made such progress that 95 per cent of the population either has or has had the disease, according to a report received here from Col. E. R. Gilchrist, head of the United States medical unit in that country.

Dr. Plotz of Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, is expected to arrive in Poland early in April to co-operate in the campaign against the fever. He was sent by the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, which recently made available $100,000 for the operation of the delousing plants sold to Poland. Scarcity of coal has been given as the reason for failure to utilize the machinery.

The American military unit of 500 men and 33 officers of the Medical Corps, under Col. Gilchrist, has been reduced to 20 officers and 75 men.

Her Charred Body Was Found in Their Furnace, Her Clothing Near By.

By the Associated Press.

DEADWOOD, S. D., March 26.—A jury of 10 farmers and two laborers was selected yesterday, and taking of testimony begun in the trial of Mr. and Mrs. George Searle, charged with the murder of Mrs. Hilda Neamy, mother of Mrs. Searle, whose charred body was found in the Neamy apartment furnace at Lead, Dec. 7 last.

Coroner Hodges was the only witness examined and his testimony was to be continued today.

The body of the woman was found in the furnace, head foremost, with the arms folded over her breast, he said. The woman's clothing had been neatly folded and laid away on a chair in the basement. He said the waist and skirt had distinct blood stains. In the basement also was an ax, which the witness said Searle had told him he had used to kill chickens.

Postal Clerks' Federation Asks Postoffice Department to Investigate Stationery Printing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, issued a statement yesterday that the federation intended to see that Postmaster Selph of St. Louis is held to a strict accounting for all his official actions.

Flaherty said that he had acquainted Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the President with the charge made in an affidavit by Philip S. Siegel, formerly a printer in the St. Louis Postoffice, that Government equipment and labor were used by Selph for the printing of tickets to an anti-league meeting by Senator Reed.

"We have also," said Flaherty, asked the Postoffice Department to investigate the Siegel charge that Postmaster Selph had business printing for his father in New Orleans done at Government expense."

Assailant Drags Her Into Alley but Flees When She Screams.

Violet Hagemann, 12 years old, of 3239 California avenue, on her way home from a moving picture show at 9:30 o'clock last night, was stopped by a man who stepped out of an alley in the 2300 block on California avenue.

"Coming from the college?" he asked. "That's none of your business," the girl replied, whereupon he grabbed her and dragged her into the alley. When he attempted to choke her she screamed and fought until the man fled. She suffered bruises on the face and throat and her clothes were torn.

Strike Paralyzes Rio Janeiro.

By the Associated Press.

RIO JANEIRO, March 26. — A strike has virtually paralyzed traffic in this city. Firemen on all Brazilian steamships walked out in sympathy with the idle teamsters and truck drivers, and it was announced the carpenters, woodworkers, waiters and restaurant employes, ship mechanics and municipal laborers had decided to join in the movement. The Government has announced it will prosecute and deport all foreigners involved in disturbances.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain. How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

How Wrinkles Are Caused—and Removed

Wrinkles are caused by the skin becoming loose. Obviously the remedy is to tighten the skin. Equally it is obvious that the only thing which will tighten the skin is a good astringent application.

Now, it is well known that the only effective astringent which is at the same time perfectly harmless and beneficial as well, is pure powdered saxolite, obtainable from any druggist. Dissolve one ounce in a half-pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in this refreshing lotion and—behold! The result is almost magical. The skin becomes firm and smooth, the face feels young, comfortable and solid, instead of loose and flabby.

One should be careful to use no other astringents than pure saxolite.

20 PER CENT DIVIDEND BY GENERAL MOTORS

Same Rate to Be Paid on New Shares, Issued 10 to One for Old—Is 8 Per Cent Increase.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Directors of the General Motors Corporation yesterday declared a dividend at the rate of 20 per cent annually on the old shares (par value $100) and a dividend of the same rate on the new shares, which were issued on the basis of 10 for one of the old.

This represents an increase of 8 per cent in dividend disbursements from the rate paid since 1918 and accounts for the recent activity and meteoric movements of General Motors issues.

Announcement of the increased dividends was not made until after the close of the stock market, but such action seemed to have been foreshadowed in the brisk advance of the old stock, which made a net gain of 18 points, at 284.

Dividends on the old stock are payable quarterly at $2.50 cash and one-fourth in new shares. Holders of new shares (no par value) are to receive 25 cents in cash and one-fortieth of a share of new stock.

It is planned to retire the old stock and hereafter dividends will be paid only on the new issue.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 26.—The Diamond Match Co. earned $12.81 a share on its $16,965,100 capital stock in 1919, compared with $12.13 in the previous year, according to the annual report by President W. A. Fairburn at the annual stockholders' meeting yesterday.

SUIT CASES OPEN TO SEARCH

Commissioner Holds They May Be Investigated for Liquor.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Over night bags or suit cases may be searched on sight by official enforcers of the "dry" act, according to a ruling by Commissioner McGoldrick. Overruling contentions of attorneys that their client's rights had been violated by search of his suit case, Commissioner McGoldrick held Robert Walsh of Kings Park for action by a Federal grand jury.

"I believe that when an officer suspects a person is carrying liquor in a package or bag that he has the right to search the package or bag, and does not need a search warrant to do it," the Commissioner said. "I don't believe the recent Federal ruling against raiding without search warrant applies here."

POSSE OF MINERS SEARCHES FOR SLAYER OF OHIO BOY

Preparations Made to Remove Negro Suspects Taken After Child Is Found Under Brush.

By the Associated Press.

ADENA, O., March 26.—The search for the murderers of 11-year-old Francis South, whose body was found in a wood near here last night was continued today by the armed posse of miners which formed shortly after the crime was discovered.

Authorities here said today that they believed the posse or other citizens of Adena would make no effort to reach Sherrodsville, Carroll County, where four negroes are being held as suspects in connection with the killing. Deputy Sheriffs at Sherrodsville, however, were making preparations to move the prisoners to Carrollton.

The police of Ramsay, near here, arrived with a foreigner who is being held as a suspect in the case. The crowds which had been on the streets of Adena all night had disbanded by the time the Ramsey officers reached here, and their prisoner was rushed to jail under a special guard.

NEGRO DREAMS OF FRIEND'S ARREST, THEN SEES HIM IN CELL

Janitor Inquires on Going to Work at Central Police Station for Prisoner, Who Arrives Four Hours Later.

When Robert Jones, negro janitor at the Central Police Station, reported for work today at 4:30, he went to Cell No. 12 and peered in. It was empty. He inquired of a turnkey if a negro named George Jackson had been arrested. He was told that Jackson had not.

Jones said that he had dreamed last night that George Jackson, a friend, had been arrested and placed in Cell No. 12.

Four hours later, when another turnkey was on duty, Jackson was arrested on a charge of having stolen a relative's clothing and placed in Cell No. 12.

Jones passed Cell, No. 12 at 10 a. m. and Jackson called to him. When Jones recognized Jackson he dropped his mop and fled.

CAILLAUX ATTORNEYS ATTACK TESTIMONY OF ARGENTINIAN

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 26.—Efforts were made yesterday by attorneys representing former Premier Joseph Caillaux, on trial before the Senate for having had treasonable dealings with the enemy during the war, to attack the creditability as a witness of Leon Dosenwald of Buenos Aires. Early in the trial M. Rosenwald, who is editor of La Nacion, a prominent Argentine newspaper, testified Caillaux had told him in 1917 France must make peace immediately, at any cost, and that she "could not continue the sacrifices of the last three years."

(Meaning—Please Scrutinize)

Of course there isn't a reason in the world why THE SALARIED MAN shouldn't also answer this announcement. And he's DOING IT—from Dallas, Washington, Minneapolis, wise old Boston, and all the cities in between.

The Salaried Woman who wants to better her financial situation will ANSWER this Announcement—especially if she is interested in the movies and has a general idea of the money that is made by the well-known and successful producers of photo-plays, like the

FROHMAN AMUSEMENT CORPORATION

The salaried woman usually goes to picture shows—regularly.

She is a toiler. And her tail has to be balanced by a certain amount of amusement and recreation.

These she finds in the motion picture—and at a price which she can afford to pay.

Science, travel, news, story, classic drama and diverting comedy—these she finds in the motion picture, together with the romance which is dear to her woman's heart and the inspiration demanded by her woman's soul.

So the salaried woman is what she laughingly calls herself—a movie fan!

But never until now has the salaried woman had any solid sort of chance to get on the profit side of the motion picture business.

The FROHMAN AMUSEMENT CORPORATION now gives her this opportunity, at the same time making it safe and easy.

The salaried woman is well represented in the ownership of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the United States Steel Corporation, and other great industrial companies. She is a mighty factor in modern business. Will she leave the vast and growing motion picture business out of her calculations for personal profit? She will NOT!

The Frohman Amusement Corporation claims the honor of being the first among the standard motion picture companies to systematically and publicly recognize the right of the Patron to have a share of the profits of the screen.

All this is fully explained in a certain BOOK called "THE FROHMAN PLAN," which is regarded by business women generally as one of the most interesting books that has ever fallen into their hands.

We would like to send, without any cost or obligation, to the alert woman (or man) now reading this newspaper, one copy of this BOOK. And if your name and address are sent PROMPTLY ENOUGH you will also receive, with our compliments, a list of the Frohman productions and 24 portraits of Frohman Stars.

This opportunity is Hushed. It won't last. Therefore, as soon as you have finished reading this column, send your NAME and ADDRESS, plainly written on a postcard or letter sheet, to

HOW I REDUCED MY WEIGHT

Simple Method That Enabled Me to Reduce My Weight 15 Lbs. in 20 Days

"I was about 20 pounds overweight and gaining rapidly when I decided to reduce. After investigating I found what I believed to be the safest and most reliable way to do this. It was so easy and simple it was just like play. Each morning I would stand in an open window and take as deep a breath as I could, hold it and count up to 10, then expell it slowly, repeating this several times. I went down to the drug store and got a little phy-no-la, said to be valuable in the treatment of obesity, stimulating the liver, giving tone to the heart and absorbing fatty tissue. I took a few grains of phy-no-la after meals and at bedtime.

"The effect was almost magical. I ate everything I wanted, but each day I weighed myself; I saw an improvement and in 20 days' time I had lost over 15 pounds. I felt better. My skin was firm and smooth and glowed with the pinkness of health. It is months since I used this method; my weight is still normal with no indication of gaining.

"I can honestly recommend this simple method to any fat woman or man who wants to reduce without the use of tiresome exercises, appliances or dieting. It is not expensive and the results are most pleasing. B. H. You can get the genuine phy-no-la in small cost at Enderle Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., E. A. Medler, Judge & Dolph or Kelffer Drug Co.

SOLDIER.—Repeat your question including a stamped addressed envelope for reply.

KATE.—Deep-set eyes are an individual peculiarity of some persons. It has no significance and need cause no worry.

MRS. M. JONES.—Yes, twilight sleep is used at the present time. It is not dangerous to the mother but some claim it endangers the child.

NIOLA.—Yes, oil of eucalyptus is to be severe an oil to be used as a nose spray. Use about 3 drops to an ounce of bland oil, such as liquid vaseline.

EX-DOUGHBOY.—It would be well to have her examined and treated. Endeavor to get her in a normal healthy condition before marriage. A woman or a man whose health is poor should not marry, for he may be able to help two.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone. Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

C. E.—Queen Victoria was born in 1819.

F. L. A.—The Czar and his entire family were murdered. It was not an execution.

ANXIOUS.—We cannot advise you how to let him know you care for him. You might invite him to come to see you.

ST. LOUIS CO.—The answer to the first part of your question appeared March 24. State Senator A. E. L. Gardner voted against prohibition.

NO IT.—The small letters on the coins you mentioned are the initials of the artists who design the coins. You can probably get the books you want at the Public Library.

IGNORANCE.—Yes, it is correct to wear your hat at a wedding reception. Never congratulate the bride, but extend your good wishes. The groom is assumed to be the lucky one. Send the wedding gift to the bride.

FREDERICK.—Ash Wednesday is the beginning of Lent. In 1921, March 27 will be Easter. You are not allowed to print copyright songs on the back of announcement cards unless you have the permission of the owner of the copyright.

GEO.—Cleaner and dyers do not give out their formulas for cleaning, etc. To remove the white spots from your furniture: Coat the spot with oil and pour on a rag a few drops of tincture balsamica odorosa, which can be bought in any drug store, and rub on the spot. The spot will disappear immediately.

C. P.—It is very difficult to discover the real facts concerning St. Patrick, as all facts concerning him are disputed. He left an autobiography, but did not pay special attention to the sketch of his life, but to the exaltation of his work. From this writing, he was born in Banavrem Taberniae, Scotland, probably the modern Dumbarton. He was evidently raised a Catholic.

PAULINE WAGE.—You can probably buy the song at some music stand. We cannot print the words, as the song is copyrighted. Children who have just turned five are not allowed to enter the kindergarten in March. Yes, visitors are allowed to visit high schools during school hours. Send your poetry to the editor of the magazine. If they accept your work they will pay you for it.

L. E. P.—The following is a paint for iron bodies exposed to heat: Dilute 1 part of soda water glass with 2 parts water, and mix intimately with ultramarine if a blue color is desired, or with oxide of cadmium, oxide of manganese or terra di sienna if a brown color is wanted. The paint is to be applied hot to the mixture. Bronze powder in a sufficient quantity may be added to the mixture but no more paint should be prepared than can be used in a few hours. The bronze powder may also be strewn on the fresh paint, or applied with a dry brush, to enhance the gloss. This paint is not affected by heat and is inodorous.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(Prepared by a member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

N. Y. Z.—Go to the Legal Aid Bureau and tell them your story.

TADPOLE.—Yes, you will need an Illinois fishing license. Inquire of the City Clerk, East St. Louis, Ill.

W. C. FINNEY.—You are entitled to of your wife's property, subject to payment of her debts, if she left no will. You can sell your interest if you wish.

F. D. K.—They cannot raise your rent unless you agree to it. See the Legal Aid Bureau in the Municipal Courts Building, if you think the increase is unreasonable.

LOLO.—If the tenants violate any rules they have agreed to obey you can sue them for damages incurred, or you can terminate the tenancy by proper notice.

L. G. C.—If your wife intends to fight your suit for divorce you will not have to pay her lawyer unless you choose to, and only if the court orders you to pay it.

P.-D. LOVER.—As soon as she obtains a divorce from her first husband and has her second marriage annulled, since her third husband has already obtained a divorce, she will be free to marry you. It would be better, however, to wait until the term of court is over.

WORRIED WIFE.—He can make his War Risk insurance payable to his mother in preference to his wife. If his mother died before he does and he does not make a new beneficiary, it will go to his estate, and will then be divided among his wife and child, half and half.

A STEADY READER.—The immigration authorities inform us a German immigrant will be admitted now, but that he will have trouble in getting out of Germany. He must have about $50, enough to carry him to his final destination, if in the event children are born they would likely be delicate. And a sound body is the rightful heritage of a child.

DISTRESS.—From your indefinite description of your condition it is evident that you have some organic derangement. You should place yourself under the care of a competent physician for careful examination and treatment.

HEARTBROKEN SISTER.—The situation regarding the sale or giving away of beandy is such as to make even the prescribing of it difficult. The law allows its prescription by a physician, but its possibilities are so many for both physician and druggist that few of either are attempting to use alcoholic liquids. If you can find a physician and druggist who have qualified, you can get sufficient for the need you have. If you cannot get a prescription from a physician, report to the Internal Revenue Collector at the Customs House. He might be able to help you.

MEXICO FIGHTING EMIGRATION

Workers Warned Against Promise of Employment in U. S.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, March 26.—Circulars urging measures to prevent emigration of Mexican workers to the United States were sent to all state administrations yesterday by the Interior Department.

Warnings are given against promises from unscrupulous employment agents, and it is pointed out that many Mexicans are in a miserable plight in Southern states, where they can find no work. It is also said that unrestricted emigration endangers Mexican agriculture and industry.

General Says First Battle of Next War Will Be Last

Chief of Training in Air Service Pictures Struggle in Which Giant Airplanes Disable Enemy Fleet With Bombs.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The first battle of the next war will be fought in the air, Brigadier-General William Mitchell, chief of the Division of Training and Operations, Army Air Service, declared in a statement here today, in which he visualized a decisive aerial conflict. The battle, he added, would also be the last one of the war because the losing nation would be helpless and unable to continue hostilities after its air fleet has been conquered.

The air service chief predicted that aviation will "completely drive" huge battle cruisers, battleships and other surface ships off the water in the next conflict. "A great air force can render surface craft incapable of operating and stop debarkation from ships and attacks on shore establishments," he said.

Brigadier-General Mitchell in his visualization of the great air struggle of the future described vividly the part he believes giant gun-bearing battle planes, bombers, rigid dirigible balloons and armored aircraft of various designs will play in the next war.

With the beginning of war he pictures a huge fleet of dirigible balloons soaring high above the ocean, and, from nests on the tops of these, tiny airplanes are launched, locate the enemy fleet and return with the information. The chief air officer, working in contact with the army and navy, sends his air force against the enemy.

The American fighting planes drive from the sky the enemy pursuit and combat planes launched from the decks of enemy battleships.

"Then comes the main attack by our air forces against the hostile fleet," says Gen. Mitchell. "The battleplanes are in squadrons of 25 and four of these constitute an attack group. Circling over the enemy fleet they maintain a heavy fire, destroying personnel and anti-aircraft equipment.

"With the gun-bearing planes or immediately behind them are the bombers, huge air freighters carrying projectiles weighing up to one ton and depth bombs for effect against submarines. Water torpedoes controlled by wireless from the planes crash into the sides of the hostile vessels sinking the smaller ones and damaging the larger.

"Darkness comes, and when visibility from the ships has become poor, huge rigid dirigible balloons carrying bombs of enormous weight join the attack, their projectiles crashing through the heaviest armor of the enemy ships.

"As the navy comes up to complete the work done by the aerial forces the battle is over. The enemy, driven from the air and with most of its ships either sunk or out of action, surrenders. The battle has been the first, and is also the last of the war. The enemy cannot land his forces."

SALOON KEEPER FINED $600 FOR THREE DRY LAW VIOLATIONS

Joseph Orlek Escapes Heavier Penalty Because Counts Are Consolidated.

Joseph Orlek, saloon proprietor at 816 High street, was fined $200 on each of three counts by Federal Judge Faris yesterday afternoon, for selling liquor in violation of the prohibition enforcement act, on Jan. 26, Feb. 23 and March 2.

Enforcement Agent Digges had desired to have separate informations issued in the three cases, so that a sentence of imprisonment might be imposed. The statutory penalty is a fine, up to $1000, and optional imprisonment up to six months in jail, for the first offense; and for subsequent offences, both fine and imprisonment, from $100 and a month in jail up to $2000 and five years in the penitentiary. But a single information was issued, the three offenses appearing as three counts, and the whole case was treated as a first offense. Judge Faris said, when asked as to this, that the manner of preparing the information rested with the District Attorney's office.

Digges said that the first-offense fine was not enough to stop persistent violators of the law. He believes a jail sentence or two would greatly reduce the number of such offenses.

TARTARS REPORTED TO HAVE SLAIN 17,000 ARMENIANS

Massacre in New State Instigated by Turks—14,000 Killed in December, Archbishop Says.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 26.—Tartars recently massacred 17,000 Armenians within the boundaries of the new Armenian state at the instigation of the Young Turks in the Azerbaijan Government, according to Archbishop Khoin, an Armenian from Eriyan, who has arrived in London to confer on behalf of the Armenian republic with allied authorities regarding the situation in Armenia.

Three thousand persons are being herded in Tartar villages and portions of the Armenian frontier are being held by the Tartars, according to the Archbishop. He says that in December the Tartars murdered 14,000 Armenians at Akoulis, in Azerbaijan on the pretext that Tartars had been massacred in Armenian territory. The Archbishop said also that many massacres since the armistice were declared to have been due to the fact that the frontiers between Armenia and Azerbaijan were not clearly defined.

ALKALI IN SOAP BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy; it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Employment Agency Fees.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We have been reading in the paper for the last year or so articles about profiteering in one form or another, but usually in food or wearing apparel of one description or another. But here is a phase of profiteering that has not been attacked by law or anything else to my knowledge: The people who suffer from it are those who are least able to retaliate. It is exorbitant fees exacted by so-called employment specialists (labor agencies) that cater to office help. Their fees are from 33 1-3 to 50 per cent of a month's salary. If they put one in touch with a $90-per-month position they get $33 1-3 for merely calling up a man who wants help and sending you to be interviewed.

I will say that it is worth something to be put in touch with a good position, but I do contend that these rates are all out of reason. One can readily realize how they can maintain princely suites of offices and high-priced lawyers to enforce collections; and another indication that it is extremely profitable is the fact that their number is rapidly increasing. They have the office managers solid on the idea that they are rendering a service, when in reality I fail to discover this so-called service. A well-worded want ad, whether blind or open, stating facts precise and to the point, will produce just as good results as by calling up a labor agency and interviewing applicants whom they have interviewed.

Now, if the business men will give every man who is looking for work an equal chance to be interviewed by placing an ad in the paper instead of being harried by these parasites which cling to labor and capital alike, the labor conditions will be greatly relieved. These conditions constitute no small part of the cause for labor unrest. W. R. V.

Mustering Out Wood.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am willing to admit that when first mention was made of Gen. Leonard Wood as a candidate for President I thought it was one of those things that will happen in every campaign, and that it soon would be swallowed up with other political absurdities. But now it actually appears that he has some strength, at least with the politicians in charge of the various Republican state machines.

Upon what is his candidacy based? I have asked this repeatedly, and never yet have heard an answer that seemed other than frivolous. One man said he made a good Military Governor of Cuba. Well, if he did, what of it? We don't want a Military Governor; we want a President. Somebody else said he trained the Eighty-ninth Division. Well, the number of divisions trained during the war ran well over 50, and I don't see any other trainers running for President on that platform. Somebody else said Wilson wouldn't let him go to France. And I suppose that qualifies him for the White House.

One is prompted to ask, forsooth, if Americans are losing their minds. Gen. Wood's training is entirely military. His life has been spent in barracks. Of conditions in workshops, stores, offices, mines, railroads and on the farm, he knows less than the average man one meets on the street. He knows the army. That is what he knows. Ask any man who has been in the army if he thinks the discipline of the barracks is a good thing for a whole country. Ask him if he thinks the mind of a regular army officer is the sort of a mind to guide the welfare of the civilian population.

Come, snap out of it. Let's get back to our senses. AN AMERICAN.

Solution for the Bonus Question.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A great deal is being said about the matter of a bonus for ex-service men. It looks now as if the campaign were going to succeed. The latest political news on the subject is that the Republican convention in Chicago will have a bonus plank in its platform and if it does it is certain that the Democratic convention at Frisco will have a similar plank. With both parties committed to it, the bonus idea will have prevailed, and it will probably become as important a factor in politics as the pension system and as costly to the people.

Now, I am an ex-service man. Enlisted as a private and finished as a Corporal. Did not win any medals, but did do as good a job as I knew how. I suspect I gave up as good a job as the average boy. After 23 months of it I got back to civilian life. A bonus of $50 a month for every month in the service would net me a considerable sum. I could use it very nicely. Nevertheless, I am against the bonus.

But I do not want to impose my ideas on anyone else. I believe the ex-service man who wants a bonus is entitled to his opinion, and I trust he admits I am entitled to mine. If we both take that attitude, the bonus problem, I believe, will be solved. Let the ex-service men divide on this question. Let there be pro-bonus posts and anti-bonus posts. That will put a stop to the bad-tempered controversy that is now raging; it will keep the cost of a bonus down to the minimum and it will qualify the influence of the bonus as a political factor. CORPORAL.

GEN. WOOD PHYSICALLY FIT.

We felicitate Gen. Leonard Wood on the clean bill of health given him by two distinguished physicians in New York yesterday. Dr. Harvey Cushing, the surgeon who removed a cyst from his brain 10 years ago, and Dr. Alexander Lambert, chief of the Red Cross, who attended both Col. Roosevelt and Gen. Wood and has thoroughly tested Gen. Wood's physical and mental condition, testified that he was sound as a dollar and that the tumor, which was caused by a blow, had completely disappeared, without leaving any disabling effect on his mind or body, except a slight lameness in his left leg.

This testimony of the surgeon who operated on him and the physician who knows his condition is the answer to the rumors which have been current that Gen. Wood suffered from the effects of brain trouble and an operation which might disable him at any time and render him unfit for a post of responsibility.

We are sure we voice the general sentiment of the American people in welcoming the testimony as good news. Whatever one may think of Gen. Wood's candidacy for the presidency, the fact remains that he is the leading candidate for the presidential nomination of the Republican party and his physical and mental fitness is therefore a matter of deep concern to the American people. The likelihood of disability on the part of a man filling the presidential office is a gravely serious contingency. Gen. Wood's candidacy would suffer greatly from a suspicion of disability and the people would suffer if he were elected while laboring under a disability or a strong possibility of suffering disablement.

Beyond this serious consideration connected with his candidacy, Gen. Wood is a man of high character and exceptional force, who has contributed distinguished service to his country. Wholly apart from his candidacy, there will be genuine and universal relief over the information that he is physically and mentally fit for any task with which he may be intrusted.

JAPANESE BRAND OF BOLSHEVISM.

Japanese troops serving in Siberia have been converted to Bolshevism in such numbers that six regiments are to be immediately sent home as a part of a movement to counteract the menace. Japan is the one remaining country in the world where much justification for revolution may be found. With conditions so favorable to its spread the measures most likely to be adopted for combating the peril are mere palliatives. To send regiments home and disband or confine them in barracks will probably only prove a means of spreading it further among the people.

Japan's Government was modeled after the Prussian aristocracy. Assuming Japanese Bolshevism to be as persistent as some other varieties, the fundamental method of ridding the country of it will be through radical reforms liberalizing the Government.

A PHILOSOPHY OF BLINDNESS.

A word of helpfulness and cheer to soldiers who lost their sight in the war has been written by Annesley Burrowes.

Mr. Burrowes' extreme nearsightedness proved no bar to a decided success as a descriptive writer for the daily press. After years of staff connections with newspapers, he adopted more leisurely literary pursuits. In the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post he tells how he was aided in his work by a canoe fitted with a typewriter supported on a cleat placed in front of him. He had paddled away to a shady bank on a Northern lake or stream several years ago and was deeply engaged on an article in delightful surroundings, when a beautiful green curtain descended over one of his eyes. It was by no means a disagreeable experience, but he never saw anything with that eye thereafter.

Taking up life again after a while he had greater successes and enjoyments with his one myoptic eye than he ever had with two eyes. Then cataract attacked his remaining eye and the vision faded. Three American physicians returned in 1917 from abroad with the details of a new operation for cataract devised by an oculist in Asia and Burrowes availed himself of the new technique. He planned his life anew in succeeding days of bandages only to be told in July, 1917, that the operation had been a failure. With only the ability to distinguish light he went out from the hospital to learn the ways of the blind, but one remaining hope drew him back for more experiments, treatments, operations. Presently total and permanent darkness came.

The tragic story is told as only a man of unusual powers of self-analysis and verbal expression could tell it. He learned rapidly the gains that partly compensate the blind for their loss. One of his first sensations was a feeling of satisfaction, even of pleasure in devising methods of overcoming the enemy, darkness, a feeling that increased with time. What, he asks, do those having sight see with their eyes that they value so highly? The blind do not see dirty streets, ugly buildings, badly furnished homes, bad paintings, mongrel dogs, cheap novels, would-be comic pictures. The orchestra plays for them alone. The blind man is always young. He does not see the wrinkles on his face in the glass nor time's corroding touch on his wife's beauty. Even "the process of growing blind is an entertaining one."

The wonderful note of optimism in the article is most wholesome for sightless unfortunates. He pleads fervidly for books for the blind and help in obtaining employment for them. Carnegie spent $350,000,000, he says, in providing libraries for many who can afford to buy their own books, but nothing for the blind whose books are dismayingly expensive. Scores of blind go out from their schools every year, he adds, to look for work, only to meet rebuffs and end in dependence on charity. Very many manual and other tasks in industry can be done much better by the blind than by others, he declares. Guided by his own philosophy, Mr. Burrowes is now receiving higher pay for his writings than ever before.

A NEW ANNEXATION MOVEMENT.

Past movements for a merger of city and county territory and for the legal machinery with which to effect the change have been defeated by the county—or at least by the official element in the county, for the people in divers sections most concerned favor a merger.

At the beginning of a new movement for the extension of the city limits, accordingly, the initiative is left with St. Louis County. The County Court at Clayton is asked to name a committee of citizens to suggest plans and the legal departments of the city and county will confer and endeavor to reach an agreement on the legal questions which heretofore have been so obstructive.

Whether under the borough plan, long ago suggested by the Post-Dispatch as a solution for many difficulties, or under some other plan, the time has come when the introduction of some flexibility into St. Louis' heretofore immovable boundaries must engage the most serious, determined, united effort. Whatever other details are advocated, a principle that must be insisted on is that, the matter being one for the people to determine, their right to an expression must be recognized and means provided for making their will known. So far they have been denied any voice in the matter by log-rolling in the Legislature.

The new movement seems to begin under wise counsel and in a spirit of concession and harmony. It ought to be the last movement, success rendering further labors in this direction unnecessary.

THE FAIR PRICE COMMISSION.

The Fair Price Commission is engaged in a difficult and thankless task. It probably has done the best it could, but it has not accomplished much. It does not command the respect of its own members. According to the minutes of the last meeting, it ought either to disband or reorganize.

It was the judgment of Mr. Westfall, himself a member, that the commission was wasting its time. The inquiry into the price of griddle cakes drew Mr. Westfall's fire. He thought there was bigger game than the griddle-cake peddlers. He mentioned the laundries, with their ever-increasing prices, as worthy of serious investigation.

Another commissioner, Mr. Schlueter, declared "We are a joke, absolutely a joke." He observed further that a similar board in Chicago, having discovered it was a joke, voluntarily quit. The St. Louis commission should do the same thing, Mr. Schlueter said, elaborating his sentence of death with the conviction that "there isn't a law in the land that can fix a price." Reminded that the commission had kept the price of sugar down, Mr. Schlueter acquiesced.

The Schlueter attack brought out the admission that the commission was without funds to perform its work and that it lacked authority. It should insist upon the means and the authority to do what the public expects it to do, or it should adjourn sine die. If its caliber is griddle cakes, it should quit. In any event, the resignation of Mr. Schlueter, who admittedly has no confidence in this commission or the proposition of price fixing, would seem to be one of the necessary steps in reorganizing the body.

THE KANSAS SOVIET.

The student body of a Kansas normal school has sovietized the institution and installed a pretty fair imitation of a reign of terror. Full compliance with the rules and regulations is demanded. Disobedience is promptly punished, the offender being chucked into the lake. Pupils and professors alike have thus been disciplined. The faculty has appealed to the Government of Kansas for protection. Troops have not yet been rushed to the scene, but whatever is necessary to restore order and put the teachers back in authority will be done.

The incredible detail in this lamentable story is the fact that the outrage occurred in Kansas. Had it happened in sinful Missouri or by-no-means-saintly Oklahoma, or laissez-faire Arkansas, or even saturnine Nebraska, we should have been astonished, but not dumfounded. But the youth of Kansas, reared in the shelter of prohibition, insulated against the phases or elements of life that make for lawlessness, the model future of an admittedly perfect State—how could they have gone on a psychological spree as deplorable in its excesses of exuberance as a grape or barley orgy?

Prohibition may have closed the jails of Kansas, but there yet remains the problem of unmanageable youth. Will Kansas solve it by turning her normal schools into reform schools?

SOON—APRIL!

APRIL—time of buds and showers;
Days of golden-tinted hours,
And stretching green things, fragrant, sweet;

The fresh world just a lovely toy.
Laughter bubbling to your lips,
Life thrilling to your finger tips—April!

Alas, and what is it has happened now? We find Senator Brogan and his followers declaring by resolution that they will not support anyone who favors prohibition, irrespective of party. We have prohibition because the officeholding politician was afraid to be against it. He feared that to oppose it would be the end of him in office. Now the situation is reversed. The officeholding politician will be afraid of the wets where he formerly feared the drys. To oppose the wets will be the end of him in office. Thus we are to have the same thing over again going back. Then we shall come ahead again—and so on forever, like the pendulum of a clock. Meanwhile, our civilization will probably perish of neglect, and we shall set the scene for the archeologist—who will attribute our finish to phenomena of which we never heard. A great world, dear reader, as sure as you live.

One of our readers thinks thrift must have cost us a pretty penny if the money we have saved is worth now only half what it was worth when we put it away. It does seem so, but since it is that much more than we would have had we not saved any it remains a good thing. If we ask the first satisfied man we meet whether his happiness is due to having spent all his money when he could get something for it the chances are that this will not be found to be the case. Money will doubtless recover somewhat before very long. If that happens, we shall be right tickeled for having saved some when it was not worth very much. The trouble is that our margin of savings is almost wiped out by the thrift of those who want to get so far ahead while the getting is good.

SIN-ICISM.

The imitator is successful only where he excels. PAUL ARTHUR YAWITZ.

There is probably great disappointment to have Sir Oliver Lodge assure us that we are to enter the next life only upon the plane we have traveled in this, though nothing would do us more good than to realize that this is the case. We cannot waste this life without paying for it in the next. As we go from one life to another in a sort of grand tour of the solar system we fall in indolence everywhere behind those who improve their opportunity, exactly as we do here. Good! That puts everybody upon his mettle, and it is a great improvement upon what we have ordinarily been taught to believe. As a matter of fact, the race probably began some time prior to this life, since the difference in our planes is already marked when we arrive here. Anyway, Sir Oliver wants us to understand that the next life is not a place where we have an even start with everybody else, irrespective of what we make of this life, which is what Socrates, who seems to have been right longer than anybody else, told us some 2500 years ago. He welcomed death, in which he would be able to talk with Homer. That implied, of course, Homer as Homer and Socrates as Socrates, since otherwise they would have nothing to talk about. That is what Socrates made of the next life, and it is what Sir Oliver, after centuries of pros and cons, also makes of it.

LOVE IS NOT DEAD.

Staidly and sober, sad and slow?
Why should you fold your hands and say,
Dear Love has run his little day?
Why close your eyes and, wearied, sigh,
I've dipped life's well and drained it dry?

Keep open house and welcome hand
To all the sweet emotions old,
That tipped your earlier years with gold—
Though youth's illusions long have fled,

He hath his lute, whose joyous sound
Can once more make your old heart bound,
And he will make a merry din,
If you will only let him in.

What tho' your head be crowned with snows,
The soul nor time nor aging knows,
No bounds the mind, the heart no bars,
And Love is constant as the stars,
Is instantly reborn, and he Shall stay with you eternally.

Old man, old dame, no longer sigh,
Life's well can never be dipped dry.
With Love to lead, you need not go
Staidly and sober, sad and slow,
But lightly as in years long fled—
Love is not dead; love is not dead!

DISEASE DUE TO THE WAR.

HOMER FOLKS in Harper's Monthly.

IN 1914 the millennium was on its way. It was not at the door, but it was definitely predictable. The war has postponed it indefinitely. Nothing is more certain than that reconstruction will be long delayed. We do not know exactly how this wholesome reversion to the standards of a forgotten age will impair the vitality of the next generation, but we do know that the price will have to be paid. There are laws of science, of health, and of morals as well as of economics. It will be a long-term obligation, but there will be no exemption and no moratorium. In sickness, in misery, in inefficiency, in unrest, the price will have to be paid by later generations to the last farthing. These deferred obligations are, in fact, the most distressing aspect of this matter of war and disease. Germs cannot be demobilized by any armistice or peace treaty. Once let loose, their recapture and control is a matter of long effort. The forces fighting the age-long struggle for comfort and for a normal lifetime have been thoroughly disorganized. The attainable millennium has been postponed indefinitely, but not permanently; it is for us to say how long.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

PROBABLY nobody seriously doubts that the Federal suffrage amendment will be ratified by 1921. There is just enough doubt about its ratification before the presidential election of 1920 to make the next few weeks a most interesting period in the 70 years' struggle. It is the opinion of the national association opposed to woman suffrage that the vote in West Virginia, following the refusal of a seat in the Senate to an antisuffragist, will have to be settled in court. The Ohio Legislature ratified the amendment on June 16 last, making the fifth state to act favorably, but the State Supreme Court has held that ratification requires the action of the voters in a referendum. If this view should be confirmed by the United States Supreme Court Ohio's decision would be delayed until fall, too late for the presidential election. Gov. Clement of Vermont apparently holds firmly to his opinion that a referendum also is necessary in his State, since the question involves a change in the State Constitution. Gov. Holcomb of Connecticut has been no less determined in his decision not to call a special session. Meanwhile the Governor of Tennessee has announced his intention to call a special session of the Legislature of his State to act upon the amendment as soon as 36 states, on the fact of the returns, have ratified. That the Legislature would in such an event add one "for good measure," to offset the possible loss of a contested state he appears to believe.

UNREST IN CHINA.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

AFFAIRS in China gain in interest and significance every day. The latest word is to the effect that something like civil war has broken out in the Province of Honan. At first glance, this might seem to be the very reverse of satisfactory. But when it is remembered that if civil war has broken out, it means the rising of the Chinese people against the militarist element, which is attempting to dominate the country; and when the report is considered in connection with the further news that in no fewer than eight provinces an antimilitarist league has been formed, the position of affairs assumes a new aspect. Japan may do all she can, in every one of her devious ways, to strengthen the militarist party in China, but, in her heart of hearts, she knows that it is a losing game. The writing on the wall, seen so clearly by Baron Makino, three years ago, "the moral awakening of the 400,000,000 of China," is, it is to be imagined, becoming visible to an even larger circle of Japanese statesmen.

SYDNEY of RED MOUNTAIN HOUSE

by Virgie E. Roe — Illustrated by Frank B. Hoffman...

She Fooled the Sheriff, to the Hurt of Her Heart Showing that "Only a Woman can do it"....

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

THESE two rode down across the meadow, entered the pines that clothed the sharply lifting slants of Red Mountain, turned in their saddles, looked eagerly into each other's eyes, smiled, and promptly reached out to clasp each other's hand! So they rode away in silence, while the man's face flushed with an emotion that fought in his heart, with voices that warned and called, across tides that go nowhere.

"Seems like we've known each other always, don't it?" said the girl. "Long—long time."

"Have," he answered tensely; "always."

Sydney McKnight had lived all her life on Red Mountain's skirts. She knew nothing of the cults and isms of the outside world, of reincarnation and its like. Yet with the natural quickness there was in her she understood and nodded her tawny head.

"Yes," she said, "we have so."

It was a wondrous ride, that "piece ways." They talked eagerly of a thousand things—far corners of the world he had seen; the lore of the West Coast hills where she had lived. She told him why the redheads chose a certain tree to bury their acorns in, how the mother doe hid her fawn in the thicket, and that no one, not even her father's prize trapper, could catch the old he-wolf that lived on the headwaters of the stream below and killed its bounty's worth of calves each season.

When they parted, high on the top of the ridge, it was with a promise to meet again, to ride the green ways and to know each other better.

Three days later the girl sat on Silver and looked at the man across a little stream, and he splashed through it, eager as a boy, to catch her hands and all but pull her down to his shoulder.

"Lord," he said, between his teeth, "there isn't another girl like you this side of heaven!"

She laughed, a ringing peal.

"Nor there, either," she said. "for th' preacher that used to come to Baker's Corners said they didn't cuss in heaven."

So they rode and talked again and forgot the world and all that was therein, and Sydney was late at Red Mountain house and the man at the camp, who said his name was David Hilmer, lay on his blankets far into the night, staring sleeplessly at the stars between the fir tips and beat his brain and his heart for a solution.

"O God! O God!" he gritted, with his face against his arm. "Why didn't I find her sooner? Why? Why?"

Twice in the weeks that followed he rode down to Red Mountain house and snatched a keen hour among the idle loungers, the riders, the Indians there. It was like nothing he had ever experienced, and he lived the days as they came, in certain intoxication of tingling joy. He watched Sydney among her people and saw that her rule was one of loving tyranny—knew himself for a willing subject, too.

It was a wonderful ride and they talked eagerly of many things.

And the girl, wise with her lifelong rule of men, knew that for her the sun, moon and stars shone in his speaking face, that the winds of heaven blew on her heart with the touch of his hand.

One other there was who sensed these things and was secretly troubled—John McKnight, thinking of his friend, the Sheriff. But he was wise and held his tongue, thinking that a free rein is sometimes dulling to speed.

"Let 'em alone an' mebby they'll run theirselves out," he told himself.

But he was wrong. It was the real thing that blossomed in the two young hearts there in the sounding wilderness of the pine-clad slopes that turned the world to paradise.

"David," said Sydney straightly, sitting high on the rim of the world where the pine shadows trembled, while the man lay stretched beside her, watching her face and the little curls that blew about her cheeks, "David, how long you goin' to camp on Little Fork?"

A sudden paleness spread across his features and he looked away across the gulf of blue-hazed space.

"God knows!" he said. "I should be gone by now."

"Why?"

"Because I should—but I'm not."

"An' why not?" she probed simply.

"You know why!" he flung out passionately. "Because I—cannot leave!" And he rolled over on his face, caught her hand and pressed it beneath his lips against the rocks.

There was tragedy in the action, the tensity of anguish, and with the basic daring of her nature the girl leaned over and put an arm about his neck.

"Then don't," she said. "There's room at Red Mountain house fer me an' mine—always."

"Lord," he said thickly, "little true heart, you don't know what you're saying!"

For a long moment he lay still, without a breath in his lungs, fighting some inward battle. Then he sat up, smiled and sighed, and, drawing her into his embrace, kissed her upon the lips, softly, reverently.

"I want you to know, Sydney," he said, gently, "that whatever may come in the future—I want you to know that I love you—love you with every beat of my heart, every ounce of strength and goodness and honor there is in me. O, Sydney, dear I love you!"

"An' I love you," she answered simply. "I'd—I'd do anything on earth fer you, it seems—follow you barefoot across th' world, put my hand in th' fire, stick a knife in my heart, if it had to be."

There was an odd note of savagery in her voice as she was staring away down the green slope with tragic woman-eyes that probed the future.

After that there was always in their meetings a sense of sadness, of mystery. Sydney, a Westerner born, whose precepts were ingrained from birth, did not ask him for explanation of those strange words of his concerning that uncertain future. What he chose to tell her he would tell her, and she must be content. But many a time they two stood on some sunny slope, beneath some drowsy pine, and the man held her in the bend of his arm, kissed her lips, looked long and deeply into her true eyes, kissed her again, and sighed.

Glory and fear rode together down the bitter-sweet days and they took them as they came.

* * * * * * * * *

And then once again Buck Seline came by Red Mountain house. He was always on some mysterious errand, always coming and going in silence as to his destination, his purpose. He sat with Sydney in the summer dark on the porch and talked idly of the happenings of the country.

"Do you know anything about them cattle that Dick Bistree stole from th' Harkways?" she asked interestedly.

"Somethin'," he said briefly.

"What?"

"Good!" she said.

The man smiled his little cool smile.

"Some savage, ain't you?" he wanted to know. "You like t' see a man shut up in jail?"

"No," she answered, "but I don't like t' see a rustler get away with the goods. Knows better, darn him."

Seline twirled a twig between his fingers.

"Yes," he said, "they all know better. An' it's my trick to make 'em pay. An' yet it's funny what sort o' men will do them stunts. Now this here Dick Bistree. Likely lad. Good lookin' an' sharp. Jest full of life an' devilment. Thought he'd make a haul on somebody else's work. An' now he's shut up."

There was a gentle note in the voice of the best Sheriff Menlo County had ever had, as if his heart was with the men "shut up," and yet he was known to be rock and iron to the evildoers.

"Good enough for him!" said Sydney with the righteous conviction of youth.

He fumbled in a pocket of the vest he wore over his flannel shirt and brought out a bunch of those fateful cards every Sheriff of every county of every state in the union gets, whether by the mail train, by horse stage or by pack mule in the forgotten places. He shuffled them over, straining his eyes in the soft darkness, selected one, and struck a match.

"If I show you this, Sydney," he said, "o' course you'll keep my counsel?"

"Sure, Buck," said the girl interestedly.

Then he held the flare, shielded in his palm, against the white card.

At one side there was the picture of a man, at the other a description. Her suddenly dilated eyes could scarcely scan the printed lines: "Dorran Hillard, 5 feet 11; dark hair, brushed straight back; dark eyes, clear skin, refined and educated; wanted in Boston, Mass.; crime embezzlement"—for the face that looked up at her from the yellow circle of light was the face of the man in that camp beyond the ridges!

For one awful moment she swayed forward and all but fell across Buck's arm. The world swung in a monstrous arc. Then she heard her own voice saying: "All right, Buck; I guess I got another touch o' malary. Feit it comin' on fer a week or so. Have to take some quinine."

But Buck Seline was not deceived. All the live-long hours of that night he sat and smoked and did some tall thinking, but got nowhere. To save his soul he could not puzzle it out, for he had no slightest inkling that the man he sought was in his own county, much less that Sydney McKnight knew him, for neither John nor she had mentioned the stranger, for different reasons.

Canned Tomatoes Proper Diet for Month-Old Babies, Physicians Say

And by No Means Interfere With the Youngster's Thyroid Gland if You Would Aid the Child to Be Normal and Healthy, Noted Doctors Point Out.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 26.

IF you want your month-old baby to be entirely free from the taint of scurvy, feed canned tomatoes to the infant. And if you want the child to grow up to be a normal, healthy man or woman don't interfere with the functioning of the thyroid gland.

These are only two of the interesting conclusions to be drawn from the discussions of prominent physicians yesterday at the second session of the one hundred and fourteenth annual convention of the Medical Society of the State of New York at the Waldorf-Astoria and the Hotel McAlpin. The papers relating to food for infants and glands were read at the joint meeting of the sections on medicine and pedriates in the Waldorf-Astoria.

Dr. Alfred Hess of this city, who was at one time with the health department, and has conducted investigations of milk as a food for babies, said pasteurized milk, the usual diet, is not enough for them, and to prevent the development of scurvy it was necessary to feed them something in addition, preferably orange juice or canned tomatoes.

Dr. Hess said canned tomatoes are ideal food for infants, are serviceable and "well born" and could be given in one ounce quantities to month-old babies without harm. Large numbers of babies, he said, have latent but undistinguishable scorbutic taints because they are deprived of their mother's milk.

Dr. Hess' talk was in connection with vitamines, newly discovered organisms existing in the skin of some plants and considered necessary to health. Nobody has yet seen a vitamine, but the doctors say they know it is there and has an important bearing on the value of certain foods of the human body.

THE revelations concerning the importance of the thyroid and other glands were contained in the paper on "the relationship of the external appearance of the body to disease," read by Dr. George Draper of the Rockefeller Institute.

According to Dr. Draper, a physician familiar with the action of glands has only to look into the faces of persons in his audience to tell what diseases they have had, ought to have had, or probably will have. In other words, according to Dr. Draper, the functioning of the various glands determines the shape of a man's head and nose and his general bearing and personality. The disturbance of these glands, especially in the first 10 years, in addition to shaping the skull and molding one's personality, he said, makes one susceptible to certain infectious diseases.

He referred, in illustration, to the fact that people of dark complexion or with pronounced freckles or moles had proved most susceptible to influenza and that pure-blooded races have always been the greatest sufferers from epidemics.

Dr. Draper said the interstitial glands were among these which have great influence upon a person's life and that the improper functioning of those produced the effeminate type of man.

The importance of investigation into the work of the glands and their relation to disease, he pointed out, lies in the fact it opened another field for the prevention and control of disease and would not leave scientists entirely dependent upon bacteriology for their knowledge of disease.

DR. JOSEPH A. BLAKE, whose work in the American Hospitals in France won him international fame, spoke before the surgical section on "The Application of the Methods Developed During the War to the Treatment of Fractures in Civil Life." He branded as obsolete the "fixation" of limb fractures by encasing it in a plaster cast and keeping it motionless. He advocated, instead, suspending a broken limb in a wire splint, a treatment used with great success in France.

In the new treatment, illustrated by Dr. Blake with lantern slides, the fractured limb is put in the splint and elevated to a natural position by pulleys and weights attached to a wooden frame above the bed. When properly adjusted the ends of the broken bone are by this method held in the proper alignment by the pull of the tendons and muscles around them, and there is less danger of a deformity than in the old method. At the same time the pulley system permits occasional movement of the limb while the bone is knitting, and also facilitates taking X-ray photographs of its development.

Uncommon Sense

LEARN HOW TO USE WORDS.

By John Blake.

TOOLS are useless to men who do not know how to employ them. Give a draw knife or a plane to the average man and he will be as helpless as he was before he received it.

Give either of these implements to a carpenter and he can perform prodigies of skill with them.

Because thought rules the world, and words are the messengers of thought, words are to you the most important tools there are.

From childhood you learn to use a few of them. But your vocabulary, unless it has been carefully built up, is woefully short of your requirements.

And, unless you have studied words and their meanings, you do not know how really to use half of the words that you employ.

Study words, whether you are in school or out. Get a dictionary and a thesaurus. The dictionary will tell you how to use words and what they mean. The thesaurus will enable you to add new words to your vocabulary.

Correct speech spoken and written is the mark of the intelligent man. You will speak correctly if you read good books—even though you spend but little time on grammar.

But your reading will be of little value to you unless you understand every word that you read, and learn to use it yourself when you talk or write.

You need not know Latin or French or Spanish in order to speak and write good English. But you must know English. And you can only know English if you know the words in the English language.

Try to master new words every day. Write them in sentences. Think about them, learn how to use them yourself.

And when you read, note how good writers use them, and why.

Equipped with a knowledge of correct speaking and correct writing you can go far. Slovenly speech will always hold you back, and often embarrass you. Study words faithfully. They are the foundation stones of education.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The Gratefulness of Johnny Chuck.

'Tis thus your truest friends are won.

JOHNNY CHUCK and Jimmy Skunk watched Old Man Coyote trot away across the Green Meadows and disappear among the bushes of the Old Pasture. Then Johnny Chuck gave a great sigh of relief.

"Jimmy," said he, "but for you I would be on my way up to the Old Pasture this very minute."

"What do you want to go up to the Old Pasture for?" demanded Jimmy Skunk rather gruffly.

"I don't want to go up there, chuckled Johnny Chuck. "No, Jimmy, I don't want to go up there. It's the last place in the world I would think of going. But I know very well that but for you I would be on my way up there now with Old Man Coyote. You saved my life, Jimmy Skunk, and—and—I wish I could do something for you." Johnny blurted this out rather hurriedly.

Jimmy Skunk's eyes twinkled. "That was nothing to do for an old friend," said he. "All I had to do was to show myself. Isn't it funny how quickly some people can change their minds? I never have seen any one lose an appetite quicker than Old Man Coyote lost his."

Suddenly Jimmy became very severe. "Johnny Chuck," said he, "I told you that you shouldn't have left your home in the far corner of the Old Orchard. Now, you see, I was right. If it hadn't been that I was here when Old Man Coyote arrived that new home you are so anxious for would have been right inside Old Man Coyote by this time. Now take my advice and get back home as quick as you can and stay there. Why, if I had a home like that I would be perfectly happy. It's the finest home I know of anywhere."

"Do you really think so?" interrupted Johnny Chuck eagerly. "How would you like to have it for your own?"

Jimmy Skunk turned to face Johnny Chuck. "Now what idea have you in that crazy head of yours?" he demanded.

Johnny Chuck grinned. "Just this, Jimmy Skunk," said he. "I've got to have a new home. Something inside me tells me that I can never be contented until I have a new home. Polly Chuck feels the same way. We need a change. Now I've found a place down here that just suits me and I'm going to work on that home right away. When it is finished Polly Chuck and I will move in and our old home up there in the far corner of the Old Orchard will be empty. I know of no people Polly Chuck and I would so like to have in that old home of ours equal to yourself and Mrs. Skunk. You've just saved my life. Now I want to give you my old home. I want you to know that I am really grateful."

"Pooh!" exclaimed Jimmy Skunk. "What I did was nothing at all. You don't need to be grateful. However, if you have really made up your mind that you are going to leave that old home, I will be very glad indeed to have it. About when will it be ready for Mrs. Skunk and I to move in?"

"That depends on how soon I can dig my new home," replied Johnny Chuck. "There's one thing more I wish you would do for me, Jimmy."

"What's that?" asked Jimmy.

"I wish you would stay around here until I get my new home started," replied Johnny wistfully. "Then I won't have anything to worry about. If I once get it started, I won't be afraid of anybody. If Reddy Fox or Old Man Coyote should happen along and discover me at work they might make trouble for me before I got my hole well started. But once let me get it well started I will have nothing to fear from them. I can dig faster than they can. There isn't but one person who can beat me digging a hole."

"Who is that?" asked Jimmy looking interested.

"Digger the Badger," replied Johnny Chuck. "He can beat me digging and I don't mind saying so. Now what do you say to staying around here a little while and when I have finished my new home taking my old one?"

"It's a bargain," replied Jimmy Skunk, who is lazy and never does any more work than he has to.

The Ghetto Ghost Might Do Better If He Were to Fight in the Phantomweight Class

Valger Knocks Out Kabakoff In 6th Round, After Giving Ghetto Ghost Boxing Lesson

By John E. Wray.

AFTER badly disarranging the facial landscape of Harry Kabakoff with maddening left-hand pokes, Benny Valger, now of New York, put the finishing touch to the St. Louis fighter's immediate hope of fame by knocking him out in the sixth round, before about 4000 persons, at the Coliseum last night.

The right-hand crusher that sent Kabakoff face forward to the mat and which also put the local Ghetto in mourning, followed two other lefts which immediately before had toppled Kabby to the canvas for respective counts of eight and nine.

The knockdowns were the climax of as complete a boxing lesson as ever was administered in a local ring, the St. Louis man being hopelessly outclassed in all departments, from dome to feet. Even in reach and height, and possibly in weight, the St. Louis man was on the short end of the argument.

The knockout was directly due to Kabakoff's eagerness to carry the fight to his opponent, and to his belief that Valger did not own a convincing punch in either glove. He "died gamely," forcing the fight from the start, when he might have saved his face by adopting the Parthian method of fighting on the run.

Kabby Confident at Start.

Kabakoff was in splendid condition. As he strode across the ring his legs and body glowed with the pink of perfect condition. Below the narrow strip of bone that separated his greased pompadour from his eyebrows, sparkled a pair of snappy eager eyes, unafraid, confident even. No trace of nervousness was apparent as he stepped up to Valger and shook hands as a cover to the inspection of the enemy's taping. His appearance was even condescending.

Slumped down in his chair, with a dirty bathrobe over him, Valger impassively thrust out both hands.

Kabakoff felt the bandages and even poked his fingers between the folds, apparently to find if the germs of a knockout were present. He found nothing, just then.

A few moments later, as the pair glided out to the center of the ring, it was obvious that there WAS something beneath those bandages.

Valger, who was as impassive as an Iroquois and who bore an air of studious thoughtfulness throughout the encounter, leaned his head back out of reach, after the manner Jess Willard tried to employ against Dempsey. Valger's height and his two or three inches of reach advantage, enabled him to work this tactic to perfection. Kabby missed widely and before he settled firmly to the floor the enemy left was pumped into his visage with alarming rapidity.

Valger Bewilders Kabby.

Like a machine gun that sinister glove popped the Kabakoff countenance until its owner's eyes were reddened, his cheeks flushed, and their owner dazed and dumfounded at his inability to score or even reach his opponent. His left leads fell short, his right crosses whiffed the air, like a pinch hitter striking out with the bases filled.

Kabakoff, Angered at Inability to Land On Valger, Tries to Rush His Opponent

Kabakoff, angered by the manner in which he was being shown up, covered his face with both arms and rushed in lashing out when he thought he had arrived within hitting distance. But his blows usually found the air only, and before he could regain his poise the Valger left was peppering his face again. When Kabby lifted his guard, that educated southpaw dropped a story and punctured the pantry region.

The crowd was wild at the surprising showing of Valger, who, only two nights before, had made an indifferent fight against Jack Lawler. Throughout the first round last night Valger did not use his right hand half a dozen times and then only by way of diversion. It appeared to lack a punch, conforming to the report that had been sent out about it from the East.

When the gong rang at the close of the initial period Kabby was a red-faced, bewildered, angered pugilist.

His little face was wrinkled with querulous puzzlement as his seconds laid down the law during the intermission. But that determination to do or die had possessed the Ghetto Ghost was evident when the gong rang to start the second round.

Kabby Rushes in Second.

As Valger glided leisurely to the center, Kabakoff stormed the frame of the imported talent. Valger ungracefully gave ground before him, but kept his head back out of reach of the savage hooks hurled at him by the St. Louis Semite. Very soon the left was working again and Kabby's rush was checked. The local fighter insistently stayed atop of his man, determined to get through the guard somehow. Midway in the round he succeeded, his right hook visibly shaking Valger, who half turned and stepped quickly back two steps. Then he faced about and the oncoming Kabby rushed into that wagon-tongue left hand. Kabakoff's head flew back until it almost hit the shoulder blades. But his splendid condition came to his rescue and enabled him to bore in for more. He rushed Valger around the ring and again landed a right to the head that shook up the visitor. Valger, toward the close of the round, took command again with his good left hand generalship and splendid slipping. He smiled faintly once as Kabakoff missed a left lead by more than a foot.

That Kabakoff missed many times similarly throughout the fight indicates how marvelously he was outclassed. Kabby himself was considered a first-class boxer until last night.

The third round was a repetition of the first, with Valger in command and running the map of Kabakoff throughout, save for one occasion. Kabakoff met him with a hard right that wobbled Valger and he held for a moment. He quickly recovered. Kabakoff was still rushing in a vain endeavor to find a weak spot in Valger's armor, as the gong rang.

He kept up the insistent attack, but showed little versatility in trying to solve Valger for the next two rounds. In both of these he encountered lefts innumerable, and toward the middle of the fifth he began to find out something about the Valger right, which had been under cover.

Kabby Misses a Chance.

It was in the fifth period, however, that Kabby had and missed his only chance. He shook Valger badly with a right that landed fairly and squarely. Valger stumbled clumsily around for a moment in distress. But Kabby, taught a severe lesson by the left, chose the wrong time to hang back, and before long his foe had recovered and was left-handing him again, using an occasional right by way of variation.

In the sixth, Kabby, although heavily battered by this time, again dashed from his corner to force the battle. The round was less than a minute old when Valger exploded his mine. As Kabby rushed, Valger's right leaped out to meet him. It struck squarely on the jaw of Kabakoff. The Ghetto Ghost staggered back a step or two, and then sank to the floor, under the ropes, where Referee Heisner stood over and counted eight before the local fighter could regain his feet.

Ere he could get his bearings, Valger's right again dropped him, and again he rolled under the ropes, almost in the exact spot of the first knockdown.

It seemed improbable that he would rise again, but his fine condition enabled him to lift himself to his feet at the nine toll. He wobbled toward Valger as though about to fall. Heisner rushed in between the men and took a hasty look at Kabby's eyes, then stepped quickly back as the St. Louisan gamely stepped into his foe. He was a mere helpless derelict, however. A cuff or two by Valger placed Kabby's head in good position and then the visiting right shot over and Kabby dropped, face to the floor, for the third and last call.

Valger Quits Ring Too Soon.

Valger leaped from the ring and started to leave, but shouts from ringsiders, who feared Kabby might possibly get up before the 10 count, sent him scurrying back between the ropes. He arrived just in time to rush over and help carry his fallen foe to his corner.

Although Valger appeared to be the best lightweight boxer shown in this city since Benny Leonard's visit, his effort against Kabakoff was aided greatly by his physical advantages in reach and height. However, he appears entirely able to take care of himself in the best of company. The crowd gave him a splendid hand.

Unquestionably, Valger's weak showing against Lawler at Atlanta was due, as he told the Post-Dispatch, to a desire to save himself for his St. Louis appearance.

The Police Department supervised the handling of the crowd, and the show was run off smoothly. Everybody was seated where they belonged and not the slightest confusion prevailed. Thanks, Commissioner Sheehan.

Jack Lawler was introduced. It was announced he would fight at the Rialto A. C. April 5, opponent not named. Why not Kabakoff?

Penn Wins From Chicago, 29-18

Victory for Easterners Evens Up Series for Varsity Basket Honors.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—The University of Pennsylvania defeated the University of Chicago here last night, 29 to 18, in the second of a three-game series for the varsity basketball championship of the United States. This gives each team one victory. The deciding contest will be played at Princeton next Saturday night. Chicago won the first game on its home floor last Monday night, 28 to 24.

HAINES HURLS CARDS TO VICTORY AND TIES SERIES WITH MACKMEN

SAN BENITO, Tex., March 26.—Jess Haines, the right-hander purchased by the Cardinals from the Kansas City club of the American Association, has proven the star of the exhibition games between the Knotholers and Athletics now in progress in the Lone Star State. Yesterday Haines pitched the full distance and downed Mack's charges, 6—4. The victory for the Cardinals made the count on the series 5 all.

The twirling of Haines has been one of the real features of the Cardinals' work this spring. He is the only flinger who has been able to stop the Mackmen with any degree of success. Yesterday was the fourth time he has been used by Rickey in the exhibition contests. Right now the former Kansas City flinger is further advanced than any of Rickey's mound stars.

In all, Haines has pitched 21 innings against the American Leaguers this spring. In that time he has been found for seven runs, an average of 2.70 per game. He has held the opposition to 16 safeties.

In the first game Haines twirled against the Athletics he allowed only one hit and no runs in six innings and was the winner. Last Saturday he was sent back by Rickey, and although he yielded only three safeties in the six frames he worked, a two-base error by Bogart beat him, 2—1. On Wednesday he hurled the final inning and disposed of the Mackmen in order, while yesterday he permitted nine hits. He owns two victories against one defeat on the series.

The veteran Scott Perry and Rommell, the right-hander obtained by Mack from the International League, opposed the Cardinals and were bumped for 10 safeties.

RAIN AGAIN PREVENTS BROWNS FROM PLAYING

OKMULGEE, Ok., March 26.—Unless the sun comes out very bright by noon today there is little chance that the Browns will get the opportunity to meet the Omaha team. The heavy rainstorm yesterday almost washed away the ball park. The business men of the city have promised that if the weather is bright today they will put a force of men to work filling up the gullies.

The Browns will leave here this evening for Tulsa, where games will be played against the Western League team tomorrow and Sunday.

RACING BILL PASSED BY MARYLAND SENATE

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26.—The Bowie racetrack bill providing for a Racing Commission for Prince George's County passed its third reading in the Senate last night, amended by the addition of an emergency clause which would allow a spring meeting.

The bill is a House measure and came to the Senate without the emergency clause, but as the Court of Appeals has decided that there was no warrant for racing at Bowie, and as ordinarily bills do not go into effect until June 1, the clause was necessary to legalize the spring meet next month.

Title Battle in 1920 Not Likely, Rickard Asserts

French Champion Shows Speed and Cleverness in Shirt-Sleeve Exhibition.

NEW YORK, March 26.—There is no chance for a world's championship bout in 1920 between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, according to Tex Rickard, one of the foremost bidders for the contest. The French champion probably will not extend his present visit to the United States, Rickard said today, and he must return to Paris for a bout scheduled in August.

This is sufficient to prevent his appearance against Dempsey this year, the promoter added, explaining that for the international bout to be a financial success it would have to be held in the open, and as Carpentier will be busy until July he would not have enough time to train before the arrival of cold weather.

CARPENTIER DISPLAYS CLEVER DEFENSE IN SPARRING EXHIBITION

NEW YORK, March 26.—Georges Carpentier, champion European heavyweight boxer, gained a host of American admirers here early today by his display of speed and cleverness in an informal shirt-sleeve sparring exhibition with Maj. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia, before a thousand guests at a dinner of the International Sporting Club.

It was the French boxer's first exhibition in this country and he was given a rousing ovation.

The "match" of two two-minute rounds was staged in a temporary ring erected in the center of the Hotel Commodore ballroom. Tex Rickard was referee.

At the outset the Frenchman displayed lightning speed, his shifty footwork and feinting being very clever. Maj. Biddle, an amateur boxer of considerable ability, scarcely landed a blow. Carpenter ducking his swings easily. No hard blows were struck by either boxer, according to agreement.

Shows Strong Defense.

Although the French fighter was not in action long enough to gauge his real ability, expert observers were convinced that he was one of the most resourceful fighters, especially on the defensive, that Europe has produced in years.

The midnight dinner brought together a throng of prominent men interested in athletics. Some of the diners were: Major-General John F. O'Ryan, who was the toastmaster; Major-General Goethals, William H. (Big Bill) Edwards, Kermit Roosevelt, Charles Dana Gibson, the artist; Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor; Gen. Coleman Dupont, Walter Camp, the Yale football mentor; former Gov. Charles S. Whitman, and a number of men holding high places in the financial life of America. Ambassador Jusserand of France was unable to be present, but he was represented by the French consul general.

Carpentier made a brief speech, expressing his appreciation of his reception and said he hoped to meet Jack Dempsey. When he added, "May the best man win," he was cheered to the echo.

Loren Murchison Expects Victory In Coliseum Dash

Local Critics, However, Are Confident Mahl Will Press Eastern Entrant.

Although Loren Murchison has not worn a running shoe since the night of the national indoor championships, two weeks ago, he feels certain that he will win the invitation 50-yard dash with ease at the Coliseum carnival tomorrow night. Murchison says that he did not train for a week previous to the national games and found out that the layoff had not harmed him.

The New York A. C. flyer has been passing up his workouts, because of a recurrent illness during the past month. Murchison found that practices weakened him and made him unfit for competition. Since his last race, March 13, he has taken a rest and now feels that he is just about in condition again.

Murchison expressed disappointment over the fact that Jack Scholz, a fellow St. Louisan and the star sprinter of the University of Missouri track team, decided to pass up the local meet. Scholz beat the N. Y. A. C. star at Boston early in the season in a 70-yard event.

Expected to Meet Scholz.

Murchison said he was under the impression that Scholz would compete Saturday night when he left New York. He said that the officials of the Wanamaker Club had invited the Missouri U. athlete to New York for three match races on March 30, but that Scholz refused to come or was not granted permission by his coach. He also had held hopes that Scholz would run against him at the national games in New York. With all of these hopes for a meeting gone, Murchison says that he has resigned himself to wait for the outdoor championships.

Local track followers do not believe that Murchison will have such an easy time winning the invitation 50-yard event. Irwin Mahl, the local champion, will run under the Japri A. C. colors and is sure to press the eastern entrant. Mahl has frequently done even time in the century and is classed with the great sprinters of the country.

Another Japri entrant will be W. McCannon, formerly of McKendree College, a fast youth who has been brought out by Paddy Fitzgerald. Bill Bromser, the Washington U. runner, and the athlete who wins the municipal champion open event, will make up the rest of the field.

DISTRICT ASSOCIATION AGAIN DECIDES NOT TO ADMIT PARK GOLF CLUB

The lingering hopes of the Forest Park Golf Club to gain entrance into the St. Louis District Golf Association this year were extinguished yesterday, when D. R. Niederlander, treasurer of the public course organization, received the following letter from the district body:

Mr. D. R. Niederlander, Treasurer, Forest Park Golf Club.

Dear Sir—I beg to notify you that at the special meeting held last evening for the purpose of amending the by-laws of the St. Louis District Golf Association and for the purpose of enabling your club to be admitted to this association, it failed to carry.

The association has instructed me to write you that while the purpose of this association is to promote golf in every feature in the city of St. Louis, it is sorry to be forced to reject the admission of your club, for the reason that said by-laws could not be amended so as to admit the same.

We hope that this will not prevent your club, however, from progressing and thriving in the promotion of golf.

I return to you herewith your check for $10.

Very sincerely yours,
ST. LOUIS DISTRICT GOLF ASSOCIATION.
By Frank B. Nall, Secretary and Treasurer.

Braves Must Develop Pitching Strength to Make Bid for Flag

Rudolph, Starting His 15th Season, Likely to Be Stalling's Chief Reliance on Hill—Mickey O'Neill, St. Louis Boy, Probable Will Be Club's Leading Catcher.

No. 4—BOSTON NATIONALS.

FOR the Boston Braves to make any kind of a showing in the National League pennant struggle, George Stallings must get pitching. The hurling staff, on paper, appears to be the real weak spot of the Hub-town entry. Stallings has a fair infield, with two real stars; a good outfield of veterans; fair catchers, but an uncertain hurling staff.

Dick Rudolph, the veteran right-hander, who will be starting his fifteenth season in professional baseball, will again be Stallings' chief reliance. Rudolph was the club's ace in 1919, finishing eighth in efficiency among the N. L. boxmen, yielding an average of 2.17 earned runs a game.

Next best comes Frank Miller, another right-hander, who was obtained from the Pittsburg Pirates. He has not reported as yet, but has written to Stallings that he will be on hand in a short time. Miller won 13 and dropped 12 with the Corsairs last year, and gave 2.95 earned runs a battle. Others of whom much is expected are Joe Oeschger, former Phillie and Giant; John Scott and Dana Fillingim. Bunnie Hearne is the only experienced southpaw.

Records of Stallings' pitchers last season follow:

NAME.	W.	L.	Inn.	Av. E.R.
Rudolph	13	18	274	2.17
Scott	6	6	136	2.98
Miller	13	12	202	3 03
Fillingim	6	13	190	3.32
McQuillan	2	3	60	3 45
Oeschger	4	4	102	2.91

Among the youngsters, John Paul Jones, who has been a holdout, but recently decided to report, looks the best. Others are Morgan, Brown and Fabey.

St. Louis Boy Leading Catcher.

Unless all signs fail Mickey O'Neill, St. Louis boy, who was obtained from the New York Giants and served most of 1919 in the International League, will be the club's leading catcher. Veterans Hank Gowdy and Art Wilson are the other receivers.

Stallings' infield will be made up of Walter Holke, the St. Louis boy, one of the best first sackers in the circuit; Fuller, who came from the Cubs, second; Maranville, a real star at short, and Boeckel, who was loaned from the Pirates, at the far corner. Johnny Rawlings is the chief substitute.

Les Mann, Ray Powell and Walton Cruise will be the regular outfielders, despite the fact that Stallings has nine meadowmen in the South. One of this number, Christenbury, also can play the infield. Bailey, who was with the team last season, is favored to land one of the extra jobs. Stallings has announced that he will carry two sets of gardeners.

But in the final reckoning the pitchers must come through, as the club is a light hitting one, not boasting one regular .300 batter. Holke topped the list in 1919 with .291. Gowdy hit .278, while Maranville was next with .267. All the other regulars were at .257 and under.

Tomorrow's installment will tell about the Washington club.

COMISKEY THREATENS TO DROP THREE HOLDOUTS

CHICAGO, March 26.—Three veteran members of the Chicago White Sox, last year's American League pennant winners, may be dropped from baseball this season if they fail to report, according to a statement today by Charles A. Comiskey, president of the club.

The three players named in the statement are George (Buck) Weaver, third baseman; Charles Risberg, shortstop, and "Chick" Gandil, first baseman.

Comiskey, who returned from the Pacific Coast, declared that he had not seen any of the trio while there and had no reason to see them. Risberg and Weaver are under contract to play with his club this season, while Gandil has refused to sign a contract sent him in March.

The players have threatened to go into business if their demands for higher salaries are not granted, while President Comiskey is determined in his stand that the players live up to the contracts which were given them at their own request. In the statement Comiskey says:

"Weaver and Risberg will get just what their contracts call for if they report to our club in or before April 1. If they do not report by that time we will consider their contracts broken. Our offer to Gandil being refused, we have to withdraw the same."

TROYTOWN VINS FAMOUS BRITISH STEEPLECHASE

LIVERPOOL, March 26.—The Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase, run over the Aintree course near here today, was won by Maj. Garrard's Troytown. The distance was a little under four and one-half miles. Troytown carried 166 pounds.

The Turk II, owned by C. Wilcox, finished second and The Bore, belonging to H. Brown, third. The prices on the first three horses were Troytown, 4 to 1, against; The Turk II, 66 to 1, and The Bore, 28 to 1.

Out of the 34 horses which started in the race, only five completed the course. The value of the race this year was $12,000, the greatest in the history of the event.

CHICAGO BOWLER GOES AHEAD OF RUDI MEYER IN A. B. C. ALL-EVENTS

PEORIA, Ill., March 26.—St. Louis was crowded out of first place in the all-events in the American Bowling Congress yesterday, when J. Hruska of Chicago, aided by a score of 681, which placed him third in the individuals, counted 1886 for his nine games, one pin better than the total owned by Rudi Meyer of the Mound City.

E. R. Wilder was the star performer for the St. Louisans, who bowled in the doubles and singles yesterday. Wilder for his three games in the individual totaled 657, placing him well up among the prize winners. He had games of 194, 244 and 219. Rudi Pfleuger was next with 609. G. Bantenberg scored 582; F. Grassnie 576; J. Yerkes 570, and C. Huffine 498.

In the doubles Wilder and Huffine, with totals of 372, 412 and 396 for a 1180 count, were high. Yerkes and Rantenberg scored 1122 and Grassnie and Pfleuger 1068.

Another change in the singles yesterday came when M. Loecker of Chicago went into fifth place with a 679 total. W. Van Beck and S. Lorenois of Green Bay, Wis., took fifth in the doubles with 1256, while H. Bruska, Cincinnati, totaled 1238 for fifth in the all-events.

Mason Defeats Epstein.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 26.—Frankie Mason, flyweight champion of America, defeated Solly Epstein of Indianapolis in their 10-round, no-decision fight here last night. Mason displayed apparent superiority in fighting, but was held even by the Indianapolis boy in long-range boxing. Both fighters put up a fast contest.

Gould and Wear Again Win.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—Jay Gould, the open champion, paired with Joseph W. Wear, representing the Racquet Club, defeated D. L. Hutchinson and S. L. Andrews, also of the Racquet Club, in the first semi-final match of the national doubles tennis court championship here today, 6—2, 6—1 and 6—2.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"The overshadowing events in Wall street today did not occur on the Stock Exchange, but in the exchange market, where a very rapid advance took place in the London rate, along with a more moderate movement in favor of continental centers. From yesterday's closing at $3.87¼, sterling moved upward sharply during the early trading; the advance was accelerated in the later hours, until the rate touched $3.55¼, the highest figure witnessed since the beginning of last December.

"The movement was apparently based on the actual receipt during the day of $1,240,000 Transvaal gold from London and on reports from there that considerable amounts of the metal were being shipped to the United States for British Government account. A figure of $10,000,000 was named in one report, this to include the $1,240,000 released this week by the Bank of England.

"In response to a rise of sterling rates here, the price of gold at London, as measured in British paper money, declined 1 shilling 7 pence in the ounce, to the lowest level of the year. At today's figure of 105 shillings 8 pence, gold at London was 24½ above the mint par, whereas last February the price had been more than 49 per cent above parity. The movement illustrates forcefully the progress of appreciation in gold value of England's currency as measured and determined by the rate of sterling on the principal foreign markets.

"The stock market's response to the rapid advance in exchange was first tempered by a continuance of high money rates. Call loans were made at 9 per cent in the morning and at 10 per cent in the afternoon. For a time money considerations were paramount on the Stock Exchange, and prices declined after opening higher. Later in the day several of the favorite industrials were taken in hand and put up; attention centered on Stutz Motors, which gained 40 points in short order.

"Receipts by one of our banking firms today of $1,200,000 gold from London, representing a purchase of South African metal made a fortnight ago, still leaves it uncertain as to how much more of the Rand output will find its way to America. Unless the rate of sterling exchange is improving as rapidly in India, South America and the straits settlements as it is improving in New York, those markets will still be able to outbid American bankers at the London auctions. From this viewpoint, the more confident feeling which was created here by England's announcement that the Anglo-French loan would be paid off, by contributing to the advance in sterling rates, has actually made us less able to command gold at London.

"Even if the United States secures a large part of the South African output, in addition to whatever may be sent us from other sources as part payment of the Anglo-French loan next autumn, the movement of gold promises to be heavily adverse to this country. Last year's excess of gold exports over imports was $291,000,000, and this year, up to March 10, the excess was $52,000,000. One of the anomalies of the situation lies in the fact that our net shipments of gold to Argentina last year were $56,000,000, whereas our adverse trade balance was only $42,000,000 thus far this year. Gold shipments to Argentina were $52,000,000, but in January (the latest month for which the record was available) we owed that country only $7,300,000 on merchandise account.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

PERPETUAL MOTION.

From forty-eight United States,
With hopes and apprehensions,
Come Presidential candidates
To capture the conventions.

Some spurred by purpose pure and high
To rise to Lofty Station,
Some urged by loving friends to try
To cop the nomination.

Each time a bunch of new ones run,
When vain is their endeavor,
They quit the game—excepting one,
For Bryan runs forever.

The faces of new statesmen blaze
Upon the campaign buttons,
The candidates of other days
Have gone back to their muttons.

Judge A. B. Parker's loyal breast
With hope no more is fired,
And even Hearst's retired.

But one remains, whose motto reads,
"The time to quit is never."
Bill Bryan runs forever.

NOT MUCH DIFFERENCE TO THE CONSUMER.

The Government doesn't levy a luxury tax on gasoline, but the Oil Trust does.

STILL SMALL CHOICE.

Hamlet's well known question remains without an answer. Doctors' fees are up, but so are the undertakers'.

THEY HE'LL HAVE TO MOVE.

(Copyright, 1920.)

Took Some Pains.

Mrs. Flatbush: Have you settled on a name for the baby?

Mrs. Bensonhurst: Oh, yes.

"How did you settle it?"

"Oh, I got a book on nomenclature and read it."

"What's that?"

"Oh, it is a book giving hundreds of names for children to be christened."

"And you found one?"

"Sure."

"What is it?"

"John!"—Yonkers Statesman.

From the Limousine.

"That woman who just passed in a limousine bowed with marked cordiality," remarked Mr. Jibway.

"So she did, the cat!" snapped Mrs. Jibway.

"My dear."

"That was Mrs. Dibble. I've been dodging her ever since I heard she had bought a car. She wouldn't have missed catching me out on foot for a diamond necklace."—Pittsburg Leader.

A Return Favor.

A member of the Chicago bar tells the following story of the coolest man he ever knew. This man was awakened one night by burglars. He got up and went downstairs, and as he entered the dining room, where the thieves were engaged in wrapping up the silverplate, they covered him with their revolvers. This, however, did not disconcert the householder at all.

"Pardon me for disturbing you, gentlemen," said he, "but I should like you to do me a favor. If it is not too much to ask, will you be so good as to post this letter for me? It must go tonight. It's the premium for my burglary insurance."—Harper's Magazine.

Essentially Artistic.

"What kind of woman is Mrs. Gadspur?"

"Essentially artistic."

"How's that?"

See the Jeweler.

"Now, I have accepted you, you must go and see papa," said the sweet young thing on the sofa.

"But you told me to speak to your mother, and I did," replied the man by her side.

"But, you know papa sells rings!"—Yonkers Statesman.

"What now?"

"Saw one today on how to eat soup."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
